D.C. Planning Body Illegal—an Oversight

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The Daly City Planning Commission, charged with recommending approval or disapproval of the controversial redevelopment project in the city, and acting on zoning and subdivision maps, among other matters, has not legally been in existence since 1965.

In other words, for the past nine years the five-member Planning Commission of Daly City, appointed by members of the City Council as a "political plum," has been acting as a "de facto" rather than a legally constituted body.

But the commission has always been in a position of only passing on its recommendations to the City Council — the final authority — on matters including zoning and subdivision approval.

After 25 years, the city's myriad building codes were repealed in 1965 and new city codes were adopted to replace the hodgepodge of city ordinances.

Planning laws were included as an appendix to this ordinance. However, the commission was forgotten in the shuffle.

This week a new ordinance was introduced by the City Council which will formally recognize the existence of the commission.

It could be a first step toward creation of a body that has final, rather than advisory capacity on matters pertaining to planning of city projects.

Presently there is no appellate body to hear Planning Commission cases — other than the courts.

The council is the final voice in all affairs recommended by the de facto commission.

If a full-fledged agency were established, the council would then be the board which would sit on any and all appeals.

The duties of the commission will be spelled out in the new ordinance, which should be in effect within one month. It also creates, for the first time, the post of planning director — John Walker's job — and its duties.

The technicality of not having an ordinance creating the commission, it has been pointed out, will not affect any past matters brought before that body inasmuch as final action had been taken by the City Council.

Meanwhile, officials appear to be in no hurry to act on redevelopment, a matter now before the Planning Commission, at least until the ordinance can be pushed through.

An embittered battle developed between opponents of redevelopment (most members of the Original Daly City Protective Association) and the Planning Commission earlier this week.

The commission had asked to hear from four professionals involved with redevelopment in the proposed project area around the Bay Area Rapid Transit station on Knowles Avenue. Only two experts — Donald Gardner and Robert Myers — got to speak before the hearing ended in a barrage of curses, threats, shouts and jeers.

At one point in the hearing planner Walker was cheered by the audience for pointing out that no one had thus far proven the proposed project area was a "ghetto or blighted" as defined under the California Redevelopment Law.

Walker's comments came at the conclusion of the second public hearing before the commission which is charged with recommending approval or rejection of the boundary lines.

The planning director said the commission had not been presented sufficient facts on the matter to warrant designating the area "blighted" as required by redevelopment laws.

The audience cheered.

Commission Chairman Leonard Brown, who has been accused by some of "letting the hearing get out of control" by allowing cross-examination of expert testimony by Gardner and Myers, by members of the audience, informed Walker he would take his comments under advisement.

Acting redevelopment staff planner Don Chicci said he would return at the next meeting with sufficient facts and figures on blight in the area to convince the commission.

A 24-member Citizens Advisory Committee had worked for a year compiling facts on everything from the socio-economic to physical effects of redevelopment in an area bounded by Junipero Serra Freeway, San Francisco County Line, and as far east as the Crocker Estates off Hillside Avenue.

The voluminous report was handed over earlier this year and the group voluntarily disbanded itself.

Walker, in his comments, cast aside the report, noting it did not contain sufficient facts to justify the "ghetto" and "blight" label normally affixed to urban redevelopment programs.

Rash of Slayings Brings Out Concern of Citizens

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The recent disclosure of yet another rash of bloody murders in Northern California has touched off a minor panic among many citizens. They wonder aloud about the procedures of courts, police and doctors in handling cases of known mental patients.

They point to self-confessed slayer Edmund Kemper of Santa Cruz as a prime example of what they are concerned about — the fact he was under treatment for killing his grandparents and was subsequently released after he was supposedly "cured" of whatever it was that mentally disturbed him

Murders by mentally disturbed persons may be on the increase. Whether this is due to inadequate mental care or premature release of patients is only speculation.

Last July 23 a 16-year-old boy hacked pretty Linda Nelson, an 18-year-old San Bruno waitress, to death on a deserted dirt road in Daly City.

He struck her about the face, shoulders, arms and chest no less than 47 times.

Why did this boy, described by persons who knew him as "a fine boy . . . always wanting to help others," carry a meat cleaver with him, and why did he decide to chop down the girl as she walked her dog shortly before midnight?

There are reports that the boy ,from a middle-income family, had been under treatment for a slight disturbance some seven years before the night of the killing.

He had apparently responded to that treatment, sources say, and was released to his parents.

It was learned that family problems had brought about his mental illness.

But these were resolved and the boy went about living an apparently normal life. He attended local schools and was a junior in high school at the time of the killing.

He even had a job at a local restaurant, not far from the scene of the slaying.

This "really nice kid" was short for his age, but nice looking and well mannered.

"Oh, my God, you can't believe it . . . such a fine boy," one parent who knows the boy, said after the killer's identity was learned several months after the crime was committed.

Until six months before he was arrested by Detective Kolbmann of the Daly City Police Department, following a series of phone conversations between Kolbmann and the suspect, he had acted normal.

However, in recent months the boy began carrying a meat cleaver "for protection" in case he was jumped coming home from work, he told friends.

He was never in trouble with the law before that fateful night, was a straight "A" student for the first quarter term at school, and was "not one of those kids you hear about all the time," a mother of four who knew the boy said.

Fellow students, on the other hand, said the youth began acting strangely in recent months. They could not pinpoint the reason.

Some fellow students of the boy speculated he was a "pusher," that he sold drugs to others, and perhaps that's why Linda was killed.

Police said he was not a "pusher."

There followed a series of hearings by court officers, psychiatrists and others, expert in dealing with juvenile offenses.

After several weeks, it was decided by authorities to turn the boy over for needed institutional treatment.

This usually means when those in charge deem the boy ready for release he will be returned to society and, hopefully, lead a normal life.

Nab 6 Youths For Narco in Burlingame

Six young people were arrested on narcotics charges Monday in a Burlingame apartment, after county narcotics agents reportedly made a deal to buy a half-ounce of cocaine.

Booked at Burlingame Police Station and transported to County Jail:

Richard W. Keene, 18, 1230 El Camino Real, whose apartment was raided, charged with maintaining a place where narcotics are sold, and possession of narcotics;

Bruce Borgogno, 21, 1664-C Marina Court, San Mateo, charged with frequenting a place where narcotics are sold;

Thomas M. Bough, 18, 3721 Casanova Drive, San Mateo, charged with frequenting a place where narcotics are sold;

William J. Smutz, 19, 1428 South El Camino Real, San Mateo, charged with two counts of offering narcotics for sale.

Two others, a boy and a girl under 18, were also arrested. The girl was charged with possession of narcotics, and both were charged with visiting a place where narcotics are sold.

Wails Over Assessments In County

The wail of the beleaguered taxpayer is sounding loud and clear at the office of San Mateo County Assessor Jack Estes.

A total of 83,000 notices of assessment increases were sent out by Estes's office last week.

By the close of business Monday, a total of 1200 complaints had been received in the assessor's office from bewildered, questioning and just plain angry taxpayers, some of whom learned that the assessed value of their property is increased by as much as 40 per cent.

Estes says that the majority of the high percentage assessment increases are in areas where there has been no assessment review for three years. This includes residential areas of Redwood City, Menlo Park and San Carlos.

Estes states this is the last year before assessing review is placed on a regular cycle of every other year. This, he says, should reduce the amount of increase to 5 to 10 per cent biannually.

The assessor attributes the spiraling assessments to the corresponding increase in property values.

"Resales are just out of this world," he states.

Estes reports that the complaints weren't long in coming after the assessment notices were placed in the mail. He said that notices for Redwood City were mailed Thursday evening.

By 9:35 a.m. Friday, the calls started. A total of 300 calls were received Friday and another 900 Monday.

Estes says that his staff is reviewing the complaints and, in many cases, will make field reviews where it appears assessments are too high. Also, he admits, there are cases where mistakes have been made.

Meanwhile, the assessor's office is geared for more complaints as apartment owners in South San Francisco and San Mateo, as well as industrial firms in South San Francisco, Millbrae and San Bruno receive and analyze their assessment notices.

Helicopter Shooting

$1 Million Lawsuit On Deputy's Behalf

A $1 million damage suit has been filed in San Mateo County Superior Court on behalf of Jack R. Gerhardt, the sheriff's deputy who was wounded by a gunshot while riding as an observer in the sheriff's helicopter over a wooded area near Portola Valley last November 24.

Named defendants in the suit filed on Gerhardt's behalf by Attorney Joseph W. Cotchett, of San Mateo, are Donald W. Olsen, a Sunnyvale dentist; his son, Donald (also known as Dana), 17, and the latter's brother, Daryl, as well as nine "John Does."

The complaint charges that Dana Olsen fired a 7.7-caliber rifle at the helicopter, resulting in the wounding of Gerhardt, while Dana and other persons, identified only as the "John Does," were engaged in target shooting and hunting activities.

It is contended in the suit that Gerhardt sustained severe and disabling injuries to his left leg and left wrist, as well as shock and injury to his nervous system, compelling him to undergo surgical and medical care. As a result, it is stated, Gerhardt has been prevented from attending to his usual occupation, or to any occupation whatsoever.

The complaint alleges that Donald Olsen and Daryl Olsen supplied the rifle to Dana Olsen for the purpose of target practice and that the father "carelessly and negligently failed to control and supervise the activities of his son," and that the father knew "his son was a reckless, careless and immature person and was negligent and careless in the utilization operation and discharge of firearms."

Gerhardt lives in the unincorporated community of Broadmoor.

A Child's Tribute

By BOB PETERSON

"I thank you Mr. Thompson for all the help you have given my son. If it wasn't for you and your counseling program, I believe he would be heading for the wrong side of the fence. You were his friend when he was down and feeling so low, and you were there when he was happy and wanted someone to talk to. You helped him to feel wanted and express himself in difficult times, both at school and at home. I know he will miss you deeply when he leaves school. I thank you for making him the boy he is today — well-liked by one and all."

—A mother's letter to elementary school counselor Bruce Thomson.

This child, on the first day of school, wrapped his arms around a light pole, rather than be forced to go to school.

Now, you can't keep him away from school.

Another child, although bright, was timid and shy, and very much afraid of bigger children.

Now he's overconfident, almost about everything.

A third child, under psychiatric care, was not relating well with the foster mother at home.

Now there is harmony all around.

Miracles?

You might have a hard time convincing the mothers of the children participating in the classroom centered couneling-learning disability program at San Bruno Park School District's Rollingwood and Sandburg Elementary schools that it's not.

This success with elementary school child counseling and parent effectiveness training has been attributed mainly to the efforts of one man — Bruce Thompson, a credentialed school counselor with a master's degree in guidance and counseling and pupil personnel.

"I don't think I've ever heard such a tribute to one single teacher," commented School Trustee David Paterson Monday night as a contingent of mothers gave testimony of their personal experiences with the program.

The mothers were at the school board meeting because of fears the program, which was a pilot extension of existing educationally handicapped programs, would have to be dropped because of financing problems.

The focus of the pilot program, however, has not been on children formally identified as educationally handicapped. Its purpose was to serve, through counseling, those children whose problems, although not as severe, closely resembled the educationally handicapped.

Almost as if in anticipation of the request to be made to the school board, Chairman Leonard Sarkon at the onset of the meeting announced that previous indications that 12 first-year teachers would have to be released now won't have to go.

Sarkon, however, declined to assure the mothers that this meant the program would definitely continue.

"We're not at this time dropping — nor am I saying we'll keep the program," qualified Sarkon. "We're merely taking it under advisement, and looking at the funds."

One item on the agenda was a review of the budget situation, which was pointed out at this time to be highly "changeable." Sarkon said no decision one way or the other would be made without advance public notice.

Supt. William Jennings, however, was extremely optimistic. "I do think you are going to see this program expanded rather than cut out," he said after assuring the mothers that the district feels "the same way you do" about the program.

He noted that the fact the 12 first-year teachers will be rehired "may allow us to salvage the program."

It was in 1971 that a report was first made to the board regarding counseling of kindergarten through fourth graders at Rollingwood School.

The emphasis of the program was on group couneling. There was one group for each grade level, from kindergarten through grade four. The groups, conducted during the lunch hour, were based upon a modified therapeutic group activity model.

In addition, once the program got under way, Thompson instituted, on his own time, weekly meetings with parents to improve child-parent relationships.

Thompson used a term paper for a course in counseling techniques at the University of San Francisco as the statistical basis for the need for such a program in the San Bruno School District.

"Children's academic and emotional problems do not begin on the intermediate level," said Thompson in the 1971 report to the board. "All that one has to do is look back upon only a few of our difficult children's histories and one would find that already in the beginning years of school, teachers have noticed symptoms of what is coming."

In Thompson's term paper he concluded that group counseling does effect behavior change in children involved. He related the story of one boy who was so extremely withdrawn that no one could touch him. It had been considered he should be put in an institution.

"This boy is not the same today," notes Thompson in his paper. "He plays with children. He teases. And above all, he will hold my hand. This is an example of a statistic that I have been involved in. Counseling does effect behavior change."

Parents have echoed a vibrant "Amen."

Brisbane Recall Lags

The recall petition aimed at ousting Brisbane Councilmen Jess Salmon, Bill Lawrence and Julius Stern has been certified insufficient and turned back to petitioners.

Notification was mailed to proponents of the recall movement, led by Ron Colonna, on April 24, it was learned.

A total of 338 signatures is needed on the petition to qualify it for special election.

However, in each of the three cases, the city clerk invalidated some of the signatures.

Colonna has 30 days to collect an additional two dozen signatures of registered voters.

The recall charges the councilmen with failing to have the best interests of the city and its citizens at heart in making decisions, among other things.

Salmon has been the target of two previous recall movements in recent years and has each time won reelection.

Lawrence and Stern have countered they are doing what they think is best for their city.

Forgery Arrest In San Bruno

San Bruno detectives have arrested a 32-year-old San Francisco body and fender repairman on charges of credit card forgery, one outstanding San Bruno warrant and six outstanding San Francisco warrants.

James Earl Deaver, arrested at about 2 p.m. Monday, was transported to County Jail, Redwood City, with bail set at $2,641.

According to police, the credit card forgery occurred April 2 at a service station at 801 El Camino Real, San Bruno, when a fictitious name was signed to a gas credit card.

Pacifica Appeals to State To Save Little League Site

Pacifica city councilmen Monday took action against the danger of losing an unused school site currently a major center for Little League baseball.

In a joint meeting with the Laguna Salada School Board, the council voted to appeal to State Sen. Arlen Gregorio and other legislators for "exception" to current legislation which would have the effect of making school districts get rid of sites unused for over five years.

Councilman Stan Farber suggested Gregorio, and urged bitterly that school Trustee Sid Lorvan transmit the message and tell Gregorio that it would "finally" be a measure that would help Pacifica. Lorvan, who feels differently on Gregorio's conservation measures, told Farber that he would seek the legislator's aid but that Farber woul have to make such comments himself.

The city has leased the seven acre park site since 1959 but maintains only three acres. Because it's only under lease, City Manager David Thompson reported, there have been no major improvements. With no sprinklers, it has been expensive to keep up the park. He recommended that the area be purchased, or leased on a long term, and that it then be improved.

"I've been very concerned over that park," Farber declared. "Lots of sweat has gone into that park."

He noted that he had a conversation with one Little Leaguer who thought that if there were a long-term lease, volunteers would be glad to install facilities.

However, school trustees did not seem favorable to several proposals made on the park. They were powerless to grant a long-term lease because of the attitude of the legislature on these unused sites. They were adamant against selling the site for anything but the fair market price. School Board Chairman Wilbur Fry proposed exploring various alternatives which would both keep the land for a park and preserve the school system's rights in the land.

"I hate to see us give up any school sites," he added.

They also discussed the unused Edgemar Park site. The city has been using 11½ acres of the 7.3-acre site since 1960. As with Fairway Park, the city has made few improvements on the land, although it was described as having good potential.

At the urging of Mayor Aubrey Lumley, Farber moved to refer both the Fairway and Edgemar park sites to the Pacifica Capital Improvements Committee, and to direct that a development program be prepared by School Supt. John Brien and Parks, Beaches & Recreation Supt. Richard Burton, and their staffs.

Farber urged that a nest egg of $5,300 — funds from the coming Rockaway Highlands development — be augmented by $10,000 from capital improvement funds, and matched by the school district for a $30,000 program of improvement of the grounds of Crespi School. He named Crespi as almost the only school site which had not had a joint city-school improvement project.

"I admit I get emotional on this one," he added. "I have a daughter going there, and when she plays and falls, she skins her knees on the bare, hard ground . . . The money is there, paid by the developer. It must be used within 1½ miles of the project — and Crespi School is the only site that can qualify.

Thompson, however, denied that the money was there. He explained that Rockaway Highlands is a five-year project and would pay the recreation money as each phase of the project is developed. However, he felt that something could be worked out, if the council decided.

Brien, however, objected that the over-all needs of the district must be tended to. He cited several thousand dollars offered by the Sanchez P-TA for landscaping needs, as well as a large sum avilable for San Andreas School from the Fairmont Improvement Club and other local groups.

"If you want to see a gopher hole . . ." he said.

The matter was then turned over to both staffs for consideration.

The major portion of the annual joint meeting — a meeting which included informally most of the PB&R Commission — was taken up reviewing and renewing the joint city-school district facilities use.

"The supervision really is not that good," Trustee President Fry complained. "Our damage runs $4,000 to $6,000 per quarter. We intend billing the city for the damage by the recreation program . . . I think it can be narrowed down to a small group of kids who are kicking the ball into the ceiling."

Former Councilman Nick Gust arose in a vehement protest to the schools billing the city.

"Are you charging the students for all the damage they do during the school's hours? . . . The city should be thankful that the city is putting on a program for your students — and saving you thousands of dollars damage to the outside of your buildings."

Burton cited his difficulty in keeping recreation supervisors.

Fred Howard, PBR Commission chairman, announced his intention to organize a "friends of recreation" group which would furnish volunteers to help supervise such programs.

Crux of the joint use agreement was the after-school sports program financed with the help of $14,123 from civic center funds. Burton described to the trustees how the money — coming from the school district's five-cent civic center tax-rate — was helping to expand the program, to include more teams, more sports, and other activities such as trips. Burton pleaded that the program be continued.

One problem, Brien reported, was that the recently enacted SB 90 tax reform measure eliminated tax overrides such as the civic center tax. However, the trustees agreed to rewrite the city-school agreement so that a similar amount of funds would be continued, to finance the joint recreation program.

Free Service At DC Dump

Residents of Pacifica have a good opportunity to clean up their yards and garages this week.

Mario Torrigino, president of the Coastside Scavenger Company, announced that local residents will be able to deposit their rubbish and refuse free of charge this week, at the Daly City dump.

The dump is located at the end of Westline Drive in Daly City, just off of the old Coast Highway. Those wishing to go to the dump must first get a dumping stip from their local fire-ouse, or from the police station. The dump is open 8 to 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Local residents may also bring their refuse and debris in their cars or station wagons to two debris boxes placed by the scavenger firm, Saturday, 7:30-10:30 a.m. One will be located by the old Linda Mar sewer plant, along the beach; the other will be located by the scavenger firm headquarters in Sharp Park, on Montecito and Palmetto Avenues.

DC Firemen Keep Busy

The Daly City Fire Department was busy over the past weekend battling a brush fire off Guttenburg Road and answering two house fire calls.

The brush fire broke out about 10 p.m. Sunday behind the Mission Drive-in Theater and firemen, hacking their way through poison oak and over difficult terrain, managed to bring the blaze under control shortly after midnight.

San Francisco units were called in to assist the 13 men and three trucks used on the fire.

More than $4,400 damage to contents and structure was reported in the wake of a kitchen fire at the home of Ken Gollehon at 73 Tallwood St., Saturday night.

Gollehon's son was reportedly melting down candle wax on a stove when the substance caught fire.

Gollehon was able to extinguish the blaze, before the arrival of firemen, using a garden hose. However, smoke and fire damage was heavy, fire inspectors reported.

In a third fire, bedding in a basement room caught fire and caused heavy smoke damage to the home of McKinley Ross at 97 Marshall Way Sunday about 10 p.m.

No Burning

A one month's suspension of all agricultural and related burning in the Bay Area began today in accordance with Bay Area Air Pollution Control District regulations.

During the month of May no agriculture fires will be allowed. Only certain types of fires such as for the emergency disposal of fire hazard or diseased material will be allowed during May.

The next agricultural burning season begins June 1, when farmers will be allowed to burn off grain stubble during a three-month period for the purpose of double-cropping.

Spring Cleanup In Daly City

Spring cleanup is in full swing in Daly City.

The Daly City dump site at Mussel Rock is open daily for free dumping to residents of the city between the hours of 7 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. until May 6.

This is an opportunity for residents of the city to clean up fire hazards — refuse and rubbish — and dump it free of charge.

A home is damaged or destroyed every 12 minutes by fire starting in rubbish, fire department experts warn.

"Don't let this potential hazard endanger your home, take advantage of this opportunity to make your year a fire free one," fire chief Keith Schrock said.

Cleanup week started on April 28 and thousands of homeowners have taken advantage of the free dumping, according to scavenger president Al Sereni.

The dump site is located at the end of Westline Drive at the south end of Skyline Drive near the city limits with Pacifica.

Proof of residency is required.

Campaign Begins to Halt Bruno Office Construction

By BOB PETERSON

Dick Griffith, a former San Bruno councilman who was recalled over an issue of hiring a Chamber of Commerce executive as a city manager ,has kicked off a campaign to stop development of two 13-story office buildings.

In a "preliminary statement on the urgency of circulating a referendum petition," Griffith unmercifully attacks the approval of the project.

"The present city council, because of its collusive majority, is a court of no resort to the people of San Bruno in the matter of protecting themselves from the multiple pollution, traffic congestion and stress that further densification zoning and minimized parking will bring," charged Griffith.

He speaks specifically of Mayor Margaret Kozkowski and Councilmen George Corey and Tony Governale who were the majority vote in authorizing the A Epstein Co. to build the towers.

Griffith also levels his guns at the city staff, saying they have allowed themselves "to become a political arm of the present council majority."

He says the staff "has not been encouraged to perform its functions independently and objectively."

Griffith referred to the 1972 referendum ballot "repudiation" of the Cunningham Way duplexes by a 4645-1768 vote in the face of thousands of dollars expended promoting it," as the "wishes of the people."

He said "this same spirit of retention of non-density values was reflected (by the residents of San Bruno)" at recent rezoning hearings before the city council. One example is a project turned down at Sneath Lane and Monterey Drive.

In addition, pointed out Griffith, the recent Community Congress contained "repeated and vociferous expressions of repugnance at further density zoning."

He also noted that Mayor Kozkowski, at that time mayor pro tem, and filling in for Corey, said: "We will take anything and everything in this community Congress under advisement."

Governale, pointed out Griffith, at the Congress said "we (the council) will be cognizant of past errors."

Griffith also jabbed at Governale's statement that the hiring of a new planning director (Jack Mulqueeney) was a "move away from what used to be, and in the direction of response to the people's desires."

"But the plain fact is," charged Griffith, "that the present planning and managerial staff, bolstered by more than double the previous expenditures of the peoples' tax dollars, is more than ever before an apologist for the developer demands."

Griffith referred to the fact Mulqueeney "has badly admitted that his environmental impact reports are prepared totally from developer sources, without any resort to independent data."

S.S.F. Woman's Death Probed

The San Mateo County coroner's office plans toxicological tests to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Ruth Deal, 50, who was found dead at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday in her basement apartment at 656-A Third Lane, South San Francisco.

Assistant Coroner Ignacio O. Mendez said that a note was left by Mrs. Deal and that his office is investigating the possibility of suicide. The note indicated illness problems, he reported.

State Policeman, Stewardess Arrested

A 27-year-old airlines stewardess and a 32-year-old California State police officer were arrested in San Bruno last week. She was charged for possession of marijuana and he for the same charge, plus petty theft, possession of stolen property and outstanding traffic warrants.

Two officers from the California State University Police in San Francisco told local officers that they had a warrant for the arrest of a Barry C. Beinner, one of their fellow officers, who has an address in Walnut Creek.

The state police explained that they already have checked out Beinner's Walnut Creek address, where they found miscellaneous drugs, and were told Beinner could be found in San Bruno at the apartment of a Joyce Carol Williams.

San Bruno police went into action. They traced down the address of Miss Williams and hurriedly obtained a search warrant from Municipal Court Judge Walter Capaccioli.

Hurrying to the apartment of Miss Williams, at 243 West San Bruno Avenue, they met Beinner while he was walking away from it toward San Bruno Avenue. An arrest was made on the spot.

The police searched Beinner's car, which was parked nearby. Inside the vehicle they said they found cameras and equipment. Similar property had been reported stolen in a Walnut Creek burglary. It had been valued at $1,471.92.

Also found in the car were some triplicate drug prescription blanks. There were reportedly 47 prescription blanks taken from the San Francisco State Health Center.

After this search the police entered the apartment where they said they found tablets, pills, marijuana and a pipe.

Jefferson Cutback Seen For Funds

Blaming Senate Bill 90, Jefferson Union High School District Supt. Edward Morgan forecasts financial setbacks for some programs and services.

The senate measure, which goes into effect next school year, sets a limit on revenue in all school districts in California.

Morgan was reporting to trustees on the impact of the legislation on the 1973-74 budget.

He said it would be "imperative" to rebuild the district's general reserve, and he hoped the board would not find reason to dip into that fund.

Morgan had some specific recommendations concerning 1973-74 budgeting.

Among them:

— Transfering from general fund to BABEL account all expenses and income.

— Changing the department head policy by abolishing release time and returning individuals to classroom teaching.

— Reducing money budgeted for conferences.

— Eliminating district aid to student publications.

— Changing the certificated (teachers) hiring ratio to reflect the district's mid-year graduations.

Fund Crisis for Youth Bureau in Pacifica

The Pacifica Youth Service Bureau is having a "fund crisis," and wants the Jefferson Union High School District to assist financially.

The YSB, through its director Mark Savage, has appealed to the school district for $4000.

Savage said the YSB accepts referrals from the two high schools in Pacifica, Oceana and Terra Nova. He said YSB provides family and individual counseling as a tutorial project of 33 high school students.

In addition, he said, the bureau provides a job employment service, finding jobs for high school students at the rate of two a week.

"The community must decide if the services provided by the bureau are worthwhile," Savage said. If they are, he added, they must "fund it."

He indicated that the City of Pacifica and the Laguna Salada Elementary School District also are considering support.

Jefferson High Trustee John Sloane is the district's representative on the YSB board.

The trustees took the request under advisement, but during discussion Mrs. Ruth Boudinot, a former member of the YSB board, said she was not convinced monetary aid was the proper type of assistance.

Trustees Jane Powell, Al Teglia and Sloane did not oppose the request, however.

Planners OK Duplex Zone In South SF

Over protests of the owners, the South San Francisco Planning Commission last week voted unanimously to rezone a 10.36-acre site in Westborough from apartment to duplex, thus cutting down the number of dwelling units permitted from about 400 to 100.

The site is on the southwesterly corner of Westborough Boulevard and Oakmont Drive. At one time, it was proposed as the site for a giant apartment project, but the owners never went through with it. The new zone will be a planned development zone.

Protesting was Michael Callan and his architect.

The planners approved a variance request of Bonnie Novinski to build a one-story addition to a rance-style home, at 16 Verano Drive, within the required rear yard.

A proposal to vacate a pathway easement between 103 and 105 Francisco Drive, made by the director of ecological development, was withdrawn.

Brutal Death of a Pet Cat in DC

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Oscar was found dead about 10:30 p.m. Monday night in Daly City's Marchbanks Park.

His four legs had been broken, there were several wounds on his body indicating a dog had attacked him, and he was mashed to death with a blunt instrument, according to investigators.

"Oscar" was a fat grey housecat owned by five-year-old Jana Riegle.

Somehow the cat wandered out of the house John Riegle, the child's father, told police, and into Marchbanks Park.

A bat-wielding 14-year-old boy allegedly decided to have some "fun" with and first broke his legs — one at a time.

Next the youth provoked a neighborhood dog to attack the crippled feline.

He then dispatched Oscar with his baseball bat, according to juvenile witnesses to the act, police reports disclose.

Officer Jim Mendiara is still investigating the case.

He turned the boy suspect over to juvenile authorities at Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center.

It was learned the unidentified boy is on probation for another offense, which was not revealed.

Torn between anger and frustration, John Riegle said he could not bring himself to believe such cruelty could be directed to a harmless animal.

Authorities at the San Mateo County Humane Society agree and are also investigating the matter.

Riegle filed a complaint of cruelty to animals under section 597 of the state penal code against the youth, who, the distraught cat owner claims, has boasted to other children in the Marchbanks Park neighborhood of other animal killings, including a hawk.

But police have thus far been unable to turn up conclusive evidence that the boy killed Oscar or any other animal.

"He denies doing it," officer Mendiara said.

However, officer Mendiara did confirmed reports of other missing pets later found dead in the same area.

Cruelty to animals, under the penal section cited, is a misdemeanor.

The boy, if proven to be implicated in the animal killings, will be handled by juvenile authorities, police said.

Not Guilty Plea Told

Willie R. Patterson Jr., 29-year-old Pacifica man, pleaded not guilty Friday in San Mateo County Superior Court to a charge of murder in the slaying of a man he found in the home of his estranged wife March 27.

Judge Gerald E. Ragan scheduled a jury trial for May 29 at 9 a.m.

Patterson is accused of shooting to death William Moses, 37, of Daly City, at the home of Betty Patterson in the Pacific Highlands area of Pacifica.

Police said six shots were fired at Moses, who was hit twice by bullets — in the upper shoulder and in the head above the right ear.

Coast Woman Named to County Body

Mrs. Elna T. Myers, manager of the San Mateo office of the Pacific Telephone Company, was appointed last week as a member of the San Mateo County Civil Service Commission.

Mrs. Myers, 44, a resident of Pacifica, was nominated by Supervisor Jean Fassler to succeed Wayne Stockwell, who recently resigned from the commission and has moved to Mexico. She is the first woman to serve on the county commission.

A former chairman of the Pacifica City Personnel Board, Mrs. Myers has been on the board there for four years. She has been an employe of Pacific Telephone since July, 1955.

Mrs. Myers is married to James C. Myers, who operates a custom picture framing firm in San Francisco. They have a son, David, who presently is serving in the U.S. Army.

Stockwell resigned from the commission effective as of last March 1. He had been a member since July, 1961. His term extends to January 12, 1974.

Mrs. Myers' predecessor was also an employe of the telephone company. He was district supervisor in the engineering department in Redwood City.

Survey Shows Morale Ebbs in S.M. Community College District

By JOHN HORGAN

Faculty morale and working conditions at the three schools in the San Mateo Community College District have deteriorated substantially in recent years, according to a staff satisfaction survey released Thursday by district teachers.

The survey was developed and administered by the California Teachers Association.

Over 400 of the 500 teachers in the district answered the 163 questions in the survey, which measured attitudes and feelings on a wide variety of issues and topics.

Thirty administrators in the district also answered the questions.

According to a special computer compilation of scores at all three schools, the major area of agreement between the faculties and the administrators was found in regard to the chancellor, Clifford Erickson.

The chancellor was given very low marks in 14 areas relating to his performance, according to the computerized compilation.

According to the CTA, scores below the range of 60 to 70 on a scale of 100 are regarded as indications of problems of some depth. Anything below 40 is regarded as being very serious.

The lowest scores of the entire survey were found in four statements relating to the chancellor:

"We are given clear instruction by the chancellor."

"The chancellor has a sense of humor."

"I feel I am working with the chancellor rather than for him."

"New faculty are especially helped by the chancellor."

All four of those statements were given statistically weighted scores of 22, the lowest in the entire survey, by the teachers and administrators.

The lowest score given by any district group came on two statements relating to the chancellor:

"The chancellor has a sense of humor."

"The chancellor is well prepared."

In both cases, administrators at the College of San Mateo who responded gave Erickson a score of 10, within an eyelash of zero.

Other areas of concern included the attitude of the board of trustees and certain administrative functions.

In a statement issued by Robert Smith, president of the CSM Faculty Senate, it was pointed out that, "The board was characterized as preoccupied with balancing the budget and insufficiently concerned about the quality of educational programs.

ent and arbitrary, often reflecting a lack of

"Board decisions are said to be inconsistble number of respondents stated that the insight about faculty concerns. A considerable board had attempted, with some success, to usurp the prerogatives of district administrators.

". . . the salary schedule was criticized as inequitable, with frequent references to the disparity between faculty and administrative pay scales, lack of a cost-of-living increment, and lack of reward for professional improvements beyond certain levels."

Smith also noted that, "I believe that it would be a mistake to use the results of the survey for purposes of recrimination, embarrassment or accusation."

He said it is his hope that the results of the survey can be used to aid the incoming chancellor, Glenn Smith, in his attempts to improve conditions in the district.

According to the computerized study of all three schools, there were some areas where there were strong positive feelings expressed.

These included:

Confidence in and a general liking for the college presidents.

Freedom to join various teacher organizations.

A liking and respect for the students.

According to Smith, the administrators at Skyline College in San Bruno rated their president, John Peterson, at 100 on: "The president is concerned about real educational goals."

Smith said such a vote of confidence in a president has happened only three times in the four years that CTA has been administering the test to junior college staffs in this state.

Peterson also got very high marks on 13 other questions in the area of president-staff relationships.

Of the three presidents, Peterson was clearly rated the highest by his teachers and administrators.

Counselor Program Is Initiated in Daly City

The Daly City Police Department has initiated a "Police Counselor Program" in high schools in Daly City providing an officer to speak with students on a one-to-one basis as part of its community relations effort.

Too often police contacts with students are negative in nature, police frequently write traffic citations, enforce unpopular laws, arrest for curfew violations, break up juvenile disturbances and frequently regulate the actions of students, according to Lt. Phil LaBruzzo.

Due to these factors and others, the relations between students and police have suffered, Lt. Bruzzo said.

The Police Counselor Program attempts to promote understanding between students and the police, thereby lessenling tensions, anxieties and even fear of the police, LaBruzzo, head of the department's Community Relations Division said.

The modern police department has become very mechanized and mobile.

It is more difficult to have personal contact with a policeman now than it was years ago when the boot officer was on foot, and closer to the community.

The Police Counselor Program provides an opportunity for stulents and a police officer to sit down and discuss matters of mutual interest in a relaxed and non-stress atmosphere.

Through funds made available by a Police Community Relations and Spakers Bureau grant, awarded the Daly City Police Department by the California Council on Criminal Justice, a police officer visits each high school for a period of two hours per week, occupying a counselor's office.

Students who desire to speak with the police counselor do so by taking the same steps normally taken to visit the regular counselor.

Bruno Air Salute Due

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce has announced plans for its annual salute to the aviation industry and San Francisco International Airport.

The dates of May 12-20 have been set. Activities will include an aviation luncheon at which Joe Cotton, a test pilot for Unied Air Lines and formerly chief test pilot in the Air Force's XB 70 program, will speak.

Jerry Chandler, the chamber's executive manager, said other activities will include a basketball game between a team of chamber officials and the United Air Lines girls' basketball team, as well as the annual Miss San Bruno Pageant aboard a plane during a flight over the state.

April Adams, Elaine Bule and Debra Shoup are the Miss San Bruno contestants.

'Soylent' What?

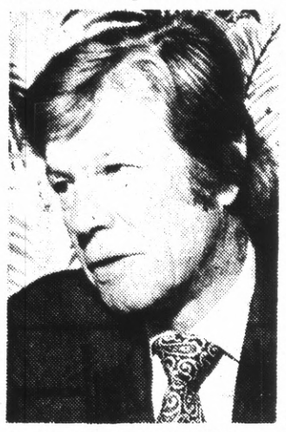
With everyone asking "what is Soylent Green," maybe the film title should have stayed with the original book. "Make Room. Make Room" from which it was written. But producer Russell Thacher and screen writer Stanley Greenberg explained recently at a press luncheon that they wanted to make Charlton Heston's cop character "relevant to his environment and overpopulation was the main point of the book. not pollution.

"You can't have overpopulation without pollution but the book's author, Harry Harrison, a science fiction writer in Los Angeles. didn't exploit this." Greenberg. who also wrote "Skyjack". explained.

"People under stress of environment is science fact. not science fiction. It used to mean living in a slum but now it means an excess of bacteria in the air and environment does effect growth and development of people."

"Tests that put people into urgly environments show signs of degradation so that some of the film might even be a documentary. The breakdown of technology is science fact, like public transportation, phone service not working. bills fouled up by computers."

Greenberg moved to Kentfield from Connecticut with his wife and three daughters after writing television drama for 12 years: "The Defenders." "East Side. West Side." and a play titled "Pueblo" done at Arena Stage. Washington. D.C. in 1971 with Sheppard Strudwick and again on television last month with Hal Holbrook.



RUSSELL THACHER
Producer

Thacher. who recently produced "Travels With My Aunt," shot "Soylent Green." the film currently playing on the Peninsula. entirely in Los Angeles.

"We used the New York Set on the M-G-M back lot, one of the few that hasn't been sold off yet and it had the right look for a disintegrating city."

"The Hyperion Sewage plant. which cost $10 million to build and now isn't used because they found it wasn't feasible to convert sewage into fertilizer is what we use as the plant where soylent green. a synthetic food used to feed 40 million people in overpopulated New York in the year 2022."

Where Edward G. Robinson goes 'home' to die is the Los Angeles Sports Arena entrance and the Marina Del Reye is the fortress looking apartment where Joseph Cotton is killed. There is something futuristic looking about some places in Los Angeles anyway."

"Eddie Robinson was ill all during the filming. We handled him with great care. He was such a lovely, sweet man. He took the role because of the idea of a good decent man surviving by making do. He was exacting about every line he spoke and was concerned with what everything meant."

"It was bizarre for me to see the film after Robinson had died. The scene of his voluntarily submitting himself to be disposed of came out of my subconscious because my own father had just died and I felt it was a nice way to say goodbye to Pop." Greenberg added.

"I don't know how his widow could have come to see the preview and manage to sit and watch him play a death scene. But she did it and it made the rest of us uncomfortable to watch it."

Heston is personally concerned about population control and pollution. It was he who brought the original book to Walter Seltzer five years ago. They had done five films together and asked Richard Fleischer. who directed Heston in "Planet of the Apes" to direct again. with Thacher as co-producer.

"We hired 500 extras to overpopulate the set. That's more extras than have been used around Hollywood in the last 10 years," Thacher added.

Palos Verdes Spring Style Show Date

The students at Palos Verdes School in San Bruno will present their annual spring fashion show on May 16 at 1:30 in the school auditorium. Palos Verdes is a school for trainable mentally retarded children which is administered by the San Mateo County Board of Education.

Ms. Mary Smith, fashion show coordinator, announces that live music and refreshments — made and served by students at the school will be part of the program. The theme of this year's show — "Fashion Wrap-up" is inspired byt the wrap-around pants skirts, which the girls will model. Each girl has made her own outfit as part of her training at school. Student participants in the event are members of the good grooming classes, which are especially designed ot help each student to look her best everyday.

In the good grooming program the girls are taught nail and skin care, how to care for their own hair, simple make-up procedures, and weight control through proper diet.

The girls in the show are:

South San Francisco—Janay LaGrave, Laura Atwood, Christine Edwards, Patricia Hernandez, Joanne Maguire, Flora Rogers.

San Bruno — Theresa Cortez, Linda Peck, Pamela Donigen.

Daly City — Karen Cannizzo, Debby Hill, Grace Coenrad, Karen Goldberg, Maureen McLoughlin, Barbara Presley, Cecilla Molina.

Pacifica —Elizabeth Romo.

The annual spring fashion show is a practical demonstration of the ways in which the various activities throughout the school — sewing, cooking, serving, good grooming, vocational training — can come together in a meaningful and enjoyable program.

Scouting Eagle to DC Youth

Scouting's highest award, the Eagle, was presented by Richard Bagnall and Bob Bryan of Daly City's Troop 369 at a special Court of Honor held recently.

More than 100 friends and guests were welcomed by Committee Chairman Bill Schumacher to the dinner and ceremonies honoring the sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Bagnall and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Willing of Daly City.

The Eagle awards were presented by Bob Colclough, Vice Chairman of the San Francisco Bay Area Council's Serra District, and Tony Giammona, Mayor of the City of Daly City.

Presentation ceremonies were performed by members of the National Eagle Scout Association — Knights of Dunamis — under the direction of Chapter Commander Craig Markinson and National Vice President Jim Mull.

Among those honoring Richard Bagnall and Bob Bryan were: Troop Committeeman Ed Dreiling, Jim Pierce and Woodrow Stadler; Assistant Scoutmasters Martin Dreiling, Craig Markinson and Fred Pratt; Scoutmaster Ray Boasso; and Eagle Scouts: Ken Boasso, Scott Heath, Phil Manchester, F. J. Pratt and Jeff Tabata of the Knights of Dunamis.

Wilmerding Sets Entrance Tests

Special entrance examinations for Lick Wilmerding High School, San Francisco, have been scheduled for May 5 at 8 a.m.

The 86-year-old boys' school is going coeducational in the fall.

The examinations will be held at the school, 755 Ocean Ave.

Pianist Wickett to Perform at Gallery

Pianist Helene Wickett will perform May 6 at 2 p.m., at Periwinkle Gallery, 1227 Danmann Ave., Pacifica.

This is the third program in the "Music At The Gallery" series featuring professional entertainment in an informal atmosphere.

Miss Wickett was born in Atherton in 1955. She started piano lessons before she was five and made her orchestral debut at the age of eight. She won the San Francisco Symphony Youth Auditions and performed with the San Francisco Symphony when she was eleven.

She also studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger and the late Robert Casadesus. She worked with Alfred Brendel and participated in the Vienna Festival masterclasses. The major part of her training has been with Elena Guirola Hitchcock of San Mateo.

Miss Wickett has performed throughout the Bay Area, Portland, Oregon and Harvard University. She has performed with the Chicago Symphony String Quartet, was a finalist in the San Francisco Symphony Foundation Competition and won first prize in the Fremont Philharmonic Competition.

Recently she has had various orchestral appearances with the San Francisco Chamber Orchestra, the North Side Symphony (at Orchestra Hall in Chicago), the Fremont Philharmonic, the San Diego Symphony under Peter Eros and the Orquesta Filarmonica de la Universidad Nacional under Eduardo Mata.

Audience members may meet the performer after the concert. A donation of $2 for adults, $1 for children under 12 is requested.

The gallery is located on Pedro Point, Pacifica.

Awards to Troop 182 Boy Scouts

Good morning, good cooks.

Writers at times make use of a device known as poetic license, wherein they embellish or magnify a fact in order to create a desired effect. This method must have been used by the person who named this first recipe. While this pie is truly delicious and extraordinarily light and high . . . it really isn't a mile high, it's mighty high tho'.

MILE HIGH PIE

½ cup margarine
1 cup flour
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup finely chopped nuts

In medium mixing bowl combine the half cup margarine, one cup flour and one-fourth cup brown sugar. Mix well and add the half cup nuts. Spread in a 9x13-inch pan and bake in 375-degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes, until a golden brown. Cool completely and crumble. Press half the crumbs into the bottom of the baking pan and reserve the other half for topping.

FILLING

2 baskets strawberries, cleaned, hulled and halved
½ cup granulated sugar
one-eighth teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 egg whites
Whipped cream

In your largest mixing bowl, combine the two baskets strawberries, half cup granulated sugar, one-eighth teaspoons salt, one teaspoon lemon juice and two egg whites. Beat at low speed until strawberries are broken up and blend into the rest of ingredients. Turn mixer to high speed and beat for 20 minutes. (NOTE: I had to stop beating at 15 minutes as the filling had increased in volume so much that it was spilling over the bowl.) Fold in whipped cream and spoon over crust, top with remaining crumbs and place in freezer for at least 4 hours. Serves 15 generously.

WHIPPED CREAM

¼ pint whipping cream
½ cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

In small mixing bowl whip cream gradually adding the half cup powdered sugar. Fold in the teaspoon vanilla.

YOU ARE wondering what to do with the remaining two egg yolks. Why not make these melt-in-your-mouth almond crescents?

ALMOND CRESCENTS

½ lb. butter or margarine
1 cup powdered sugar
2 egg yolks
1 cup chopped almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour

Cream the half pound butter, add the cup powdered sugar and cream again. Beat the two egg yolks and add to creamed mixture. Blend well. Add the one cup chopped nuts and one teaspoon vanilla. Lastly add the flour. This is a rather dry dough and it takes a bit of mixing to work in the three cups flour.

Divide dough and shape into rolls one and one-half inches around and 12-inches long. Slice into ¾-inch pieces and shape into crescents. Bake in 375-degree oven for about 10 minutes. Watch because you don't want the cookies to get brown. Remove from oven and roll in powdered sugar while still hot.

Friends of Daly City Library Get Ready for Used Book Fair

Friends of the Daly City Library book fair committee members are making sure everything will be in readiness when their Annual Used Book Fair opens at 11 a.m., May 11, at the Westlake Shopping Center Mall.

The fair will extend through May 12.

This year's collection of used books is the most comprehensive to have ever been offered for sale by The Friends. Aslo for sale will be records and sheet music.

Among those serving on the book fair and book pricing committees are Mmes. U. R. Kendree, F. Lincoln Walter, H. C. Kincaid, Alvin Schwarzback, Helen Nerbovig, Hubert Sandefur, Frank Greenwood, Thomas Jovick, Marie Meyer, Richard Cecconi, Thomas Donohue, Anthony Barichievich, Charles Brinton, William Schumacher, and Emmett Tierney, and Richard Silver.

The Mmes. Michael Daw, James Hough, H. C. Kincaid, Lannie Matson, Helen Nerbovig, and Emmett Tierney constitute a team who have been on the telephone staffing the fair on sale days. Members of The Friends look forward to working at the fair each year.

Boy Scout Troop 369, led by Raymond Boasso, will assist in setting up the fair Saturday. Eagle scout Richard Bagnall, who is in the band at Westmoor High School, is aiding in the pricing of sheet music.

Librarian Robert Kearney, library representative to the book fair, has been of assistance to the committee and to Mrs. Thomas Jovick, silent auction chairman, in selecting books for this special event which will take place from 1-3 p.m. on Saturday, May 12.

Funds derived from the sale are used to benefit the public library.

Bible Distribution Set in Serramonte

Mission Sunday and Bible distribution to Serramonte tract homes will be observed this Sunday by the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church ,377-87th St., Daly City.

The Rev. Carlos Welch of Vellore, India, will preach at the 10 a.m. Sunday worship service. He will make an informal presentation at an after meeting in the social hall followed by a luncheon of which Elder Betty Hart is in charge.

Sunday afternoon a Bible portion of Luke and The Acts will be distributed to 250 homes in Serramonte from the Robert Morse home there. This is an emphasis of Key '73 in "Calling Our Continent to The Word of God."

The local United Methodist and Westlake Baptist Churches also do distribution. Elder Steve Scaduto is chairman for the local church.

Six weeks of Bible study on the Gospel of Luke will follow at the Broadmoor Church for everyone of the churches and community interested. The study is held beginning this next Thursday at 1:00 and 7:30 p.m. as led by the local pastor, Rev. Herbert Tweedie.

Cartoons

Popeye, Beetle Bailey, Krazy Kat and two classic Roadrunner cartoons, "Beep! Beep! and Zipping Along," will be among the cartoons at Pacific Manor (May 2), Vallemar (May 3), Pedro Valley (May 4), Sanchez (May 7), Linda Mar (May 8), Westview (May 9), Fairmont (May 10), Sharp Park (May 11) community centers.

Cost for the 3:30-4 p.m. film showings is 10-cents.

GARY SAYED, chef at Joe's of Westlake, is letting Mrs. Francis J. Kelly sample the chicken to be served at Our Lady of Mercy's festival "Circus Parade," May 3-6. Others waiting to sample a piece are left to right, Robert Rickert (general chairman), A. J. Phillips, Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn (dinner chairmen). The dinner will be held May 5 from 4-7 p.m. in the school building. Reservations are necessary and you should contact Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn 755-6548 before Friday evening.

MRS. RICHARD MUDGE and Jim McCann are "major investment" chairmen for the annual festival to be held in the parish hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church, No. 7 Elmwood Drive, Daly City. The event will start on Thursday and run through May 6. The theme is "Circus Parade." Anyone interested in additional tickets may call Mrs. Mudge (756-8130) or McCann (756-5984). All proceeds will benefit Our Lady of Mercy school.

Magazine Won By Students For Classrooms

Fifteen students won a subscription to "National Wildlife" magazine for their classroom at Serramonte Center recently.

Serramonte Center presented Bob Paterson's "Pets for a Purpose" show on Friday, and students were asked to register their classroom.

Each student winner will also win, for himself, a special gift book from B. Dalton, bookseller, at Serramonte.

Among the winners were Greg McCarthy, Daly City; Patrick Oliver Pacifica; Pierre Heady, Daly City; Vicky Bugarin, Daly City; Paul Erickson, Daly City; Dan Trujillo, Daly City; Chip Blundell, San Bruno; Richard Solar, Daly City; Linda Balestreri, Pacifica; Laura Thompson, Daly City; Mark Edwards, Pacifica; Gary Gilmour, San Bruno.

Openings in Classes By County's YWCA

The San Mateo County YWCA announced that spring registration for classes will be held open for a short time.

Registration must be made at its office at 560 El Camino Real, San Bruno, as soon as possible.

The new telephone number is 588-7366.

Spring classes include activities for all ages. The very young start with the Widget World Nursery and a Program for Pre-Schoolers. Boys and girls, 6-8, can enjoy Adventures in Creativity on Tuesdays at the YWCA Center, 560 El Camino.

Dance programs include Belly Dancing, Classical Ballet, Dance Fundamentals, Social Dance, and Polynesian Dance. Bridge, Basic Ceramics, and Drawing Painting, Drivers Training, Investments and Money Management, Personal Shorthand, and nutrition and Natural Foods are available. Exercise classes included Ballet Trimnastics, Trimnastics, and Karate are for those who want them. Swimming and Tennis are also included for this Spring.

Classes are available for adults, youth, and young children.

Hunters Point Topic for D.C. Democratic Club

Louis Garavaglia, of the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard, will speak to the Daly City Democratic Club May 7th.

The public is invited.

Garavaglia represents the Hunters Point Association, and is a GS-13 civilian employee of the Shipyard. The Shipyard is planned to be closed during the next year, a victim of the President's cutbacks.

The meeting will be at the M. Pauline Brown School on Eastmoor Avenue, Daly City, at 7:30 p.m. A slide presentation on the importance of the Shipyard will be followed by coffee and donuts.

GIRL SCOUTING

BACK-PACKING for beginners as well as experienced campers will be a feature of the Daly City Girl Scout Sierra Camp this year scheduled for Camp Sugar Pine in historic Calaveras County, according to Mrs. David Dale, camp director.

Gold-mining, rock sliding, swimming, archery, folk-dancing and arts in the out-of-doors will also be camp emphases as girls, Scouts and non-Scouts, present third-grade Brownies ,and above, will work on camping badges and skills under a local staff who volunteer their time to keep camping costs at a minimum.

The July 15-21 camp, inclues bus transportation, meals and lodging, and reservations may be made immediately though Mrs. Rodman Barnes, 99 Westbrook. A $10 reservation fee will hold a place at camp.

AL SCHWARZBACK, the West Bay Chairman (San Mateo, Marin and San Francisco counties) for the Girl Scouting fund-raising campaign was recently appointed to the Bay Area Girl Scout Board of Directors. Schwarzbach also serves on the board of the San Mateo County, Boy Scouts of America.

GIRL SCOUTING — Another name for caring, the annual awards luncheon sponsored by the Daly City Girl Scout Association will feature a choice of three entries.

Slotted for May 22 at Vincenzo's Grotto, the luncheon which requires early May advance reservations, will feature five, ten and 15 year pin awards. Special year pins and recognitions will also be included.

POSING AT CAMP Sugar Pine, in historic Calaveras County, the site of this year's Daly City resident Girl Scout Camp, scheduled for July 15-21, are (left to right) Nancy Resendez of Pacifica, Linda Plichcik of Daly City and Corky White of Mill Valley, who invite all girls to this year's Sierra resident camp. Information available from Camp Director, Mrs. David Dale.

Adult Scouts and interested adults may choose top sirloin steak , scallops, or Shrimp Louis with their $3.50 registration and luncheon fee. Troop committee members as well as leaders and service team members are invited to attend. Reservations are to be made to Mrs. R. A. Futrell, 51 Baldwin, Daly City.

BOTHIN YOUTH CENTER was the site for the recent indoor outing of Daly City Scout troop No 5.82, led by Mesdames Robert Lapachet and Billy Smith. Teresa Abrahamsohn, Maria Bernardo, Ana Casado, Michele Danielle, Lisa Goodman, JoAnn Harp and Celina Mann enjoyed the outing.

As did Stephanie Mitchell, Marcela Rodriquez, Kim Romiti, Marie Trenski, Amy and Pammy Russell, Alicia and Carla Smith, Sharon Van Aken, Carme Sanchez, Kelly Torres, Elaine Portillo, Lisa Epidendio, Linda Boggs and Patty McConlogue.

Adults Denise and Catherine Lapachet, Mrs. Yvonne Bernardo, Bob Lapachet, Billy Smith, Pixies Ramona Bernardo, Joanne Smith and Christopher Smith also enjoyed the outing.

FIESTA — Students from La Universidad de Nuevo Leon, Monterrey, Mexico, brought to the area by the MECHA students at Skyline College, "so people here may learn more about the culture of Mexico and its people," will perform May 3 from noon to 1 p.m. in front of the garden restaurants at the Tanforan Shopping Center, San Bruno GRACIOUS LIVING — Pictured above is a collection of antique furnishing typical of the thousands of rare antiques to be found at the annual Hillsborough Spring Antique Show, the largest antique show in the West held May 3 to 6, at the San Mateo County Fair Grounds. The Hillsborough Spring Antique Sho wis open Thursday through Saturday from noon to 10 p.m., and on Sunday until 6 p.m. The Show is presented by and benefits the United Voluntary Services.

Parent Group Plans Child Care Survey

Family Forum

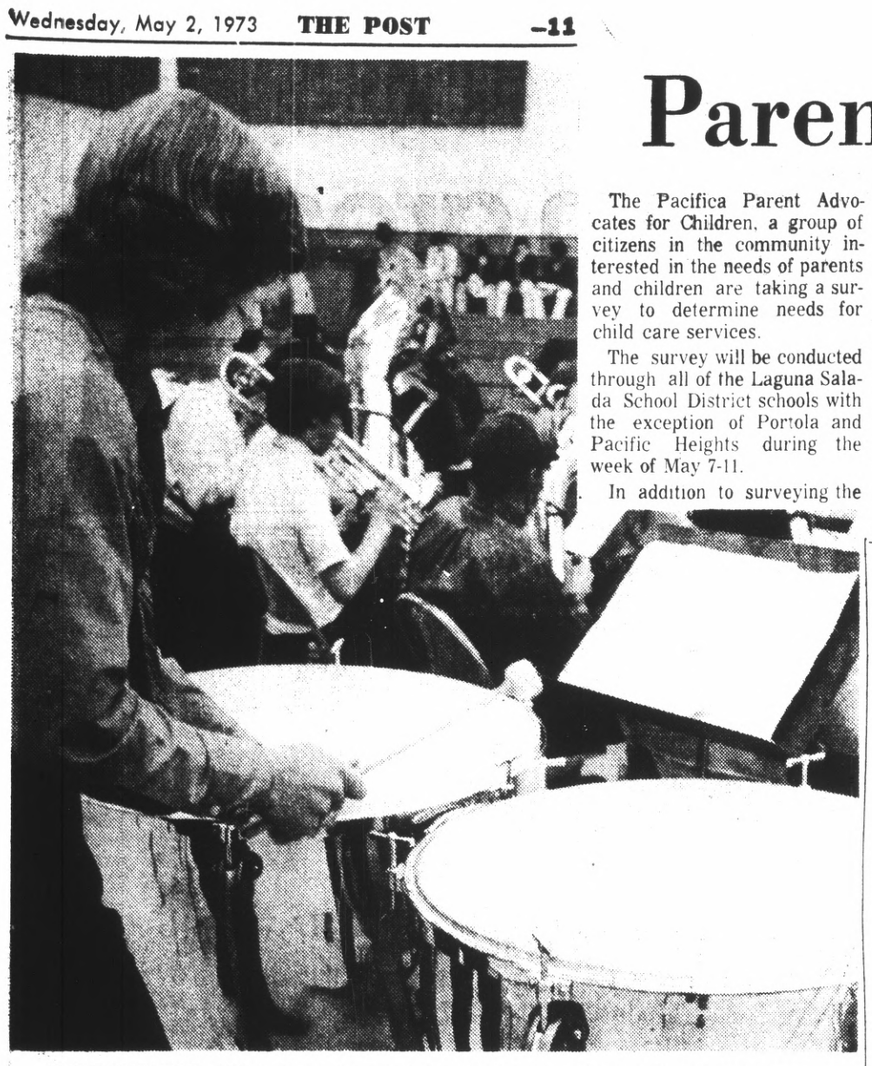
The Pacifica Parent Advocates for Children, a group of citizens in the community interested in the needs of parents and children are taking a survey to determine needs for child care services.

The survey will be conducted through all of the Laguna Salada School District schools with the exception of Portola and Pacific Heights during the week of May 7-11.

In addition to surveying the families who have children attending school, surveys will also be given to the private and parochial schools in Pacifica, the Nursery Schools, and through the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department Pre-School program. The committee has geared the survey to child care needs from pre-nursery school age through school age children to 14 years of age, and will survey the needs for working parents or parents who are going back to school, and for those who need only occasional services.

The committee feels that quality child care should be a community resource, and it should serve the needs not only of the parents, but also of those children. The statistics obtained from the surveys will help determine whether or not child care services are needed in Pacifica.

The committee is urging all parents receiving copies of the survey to complete them and return them immediately so the necessary information can be obtained. Those who do not have a child in elementary school or in a nursery school situation, but are interested in completing the survey indicating your needs for child care, should contact Beverly Batts, chairman of the Pacifica Parent Advocates for Children at 355-7164.



SERRAMONTE High School hosted the California Music Educators' Association band and orchestra festival April 28, which musicians like these performing. Forty groups, 20 from junior high schools participated. They were judged on a scale from 1 to 5. Lovanne Heath

Tomorrow afternoon the children of Our Lady of Mercy parish school will get a preview glimpse of all the 'Circus Parade" delights that have been assembled by their elders for the annual Our Lady of Mercy Spring Festival.

The more mature set will have to wait until 7 p.m. tomorrow evening to visit the parish hall and enjoy all the booths, games food and fun that General Chairman Robert Rickert and his band of "circus hands" have arranged.

Only one event can be prearranged by parents and friends of the parish and that is the chicken dinner for which reservations are on sale.

Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn (755-6548) and A. J. Phillips are the dinner chairmen and they must have a final count on reservations for Joe's of Westlake's catering-staff on Friday evening.

A clown a-round special event is planned for the children on Saturday and Sunday afternoon, according to Mrs. James McCann, chairman of festival publicity. Two clowns will entertain with baloons and a bit of tomfoolery while the parents have an opportunity to browse about on their own.

Shoppers can buy a few groceries from Charlie Santuccio, Tom LaStella and Don Tarantino or they can see about taking home a few gold fish from the booth manned by Frank Byrne and Anda Skirra. Ed Avanzino and Gene Bertorelli will have a good supply of liquors if your bar needs restocking.

You will be able to purchase some candles for a little romantic atmosphere at the candle shop run by Rich Murphy and Chuck Boerio, fill your larder with bacon and ham from the booth operated by Don Bechtel and Jerry Pult, buy some toys for your offspring from Noel Mertens and John Cunnie or fill the refrigerator with beer purchased from John Kachur and Sheldon Lendall.

Festival-goers in the mood for some fun can visit the gaming tables being run by Frank Lawson and Dino Donati, visit the pan game at the corner presided over by Joe Potter, take a look at Rubin Fuhrman and Bill Mahoney's Money tree, check the action with Dick Mudge at the horse or pitch dimes with Bob Curran.

MRS. ROBERT Dal Porto, a member of the Holy Angels Women's Guild will demonstrate "wall decrations" for members of the guild and their friends at tonight's guild gathering in the parish hall on San Pedro Road in Colma.

Mrs. Conrad Reich, president of the guild, has stated that the meeting is one that is of general interest and anyone in the community who would like to know more about contemporary ideas in home decor is invited to attend.

Home Interiors is providing the demonstration items, according to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, chiarman of publicity. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

On Sunday the guild will take part in the May Crowning during the 9 a.m. Mass and then attend a breakfast at the Cypress Hill Gold Club.

Mrs. Raymond Leahy (992-2648) is chairman of the event and she requests reservations for the breakfast be made immediately.

SATURDAY is Fuschia Ball day and all the members of Mary's Help Hospital Guild and their friends are looking foreward to a lovely evening of dancing to the music of Maurice Wolohan and his orchestra in the Villa Hotel in San Mateo.

Mrs. Barbara Cardinalli is the general chairman and Mrs. Virginia Przyborowski is the co-chairman. Mrs. Muriee McClory is the treasurer, Mrs. Bernadette Price and Mrs. Elaine Pope are the sponsors.

Mrs. Anne Harding and Mrs. Mary Brondello have done the invitations and Mrs. Helen Corbett has been taking care of the reservations. Mrs. Rose Marie Corona is the decorations chairman, Mrs. Sarah Kelecheva is the program chairman and Mrs. Ann Falconi has done the publicity.

THE MEMBERS OF Alpha Iota sorority, the San Francisco Alumnae chapter, will hold their Mother-Daughter luncheon on Saturday at the Castaway Restaurant in San Mateo.

Reservations are available from Mrs. Kenneth Hansen, 1205 Floribunda Avenue, 344-3953).

JAMES MULL JR., will be the speaker at Saturday evening's Serra District, Boy Scouts of America, annual recognition dinner.

Westlake's Ray Stuliff, is district chairman and Mrs. Juanita Richardson, Mrs. Verna McCauly, Mrs. Mae Jenkins and Mrs. Genevieve Dean, all of the Ladies Auxiliary, are the organizers of the dinner to be held in Joe Jung's restaurant in San Francisco.

Reservations are still available to those calling the Serra district headquarters, 647-9509.

Don't forget that this is Daly City Clean Up Week!

THE DALY CITY dump is open each day this week from 7 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. for free dumping as a part of the annual drive to decrease fire danger and improve the appearance of our homes and city.

SSF Choraliers Preparing for Annual Concert

The South San Francisco Choraliers, under the direction of Roy Marlow, are busy preparing for their annual spring concert which will be presented to the public in the auditorium of the West Orange Library, 840 West Orange Ave., South San Francisco, May 18, at 8 p.m.

The choir consists of residents of South San Francisco, San Bruno, Daly City, Broadmoor, and San Francisco, who formed the group under the auspices of the South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department.

Some of the numbers to be presented are Danny Boy, Easter Parade, and selections from the ever-popular Sound of Music. You will also hear solos presented by your own talented friends and neighbors. Among them are Doreen Marlow and Eileen Lester, both of Broadmoor, Francis Garcia of South San Francisco, and Diane Cortopassi of Daly City.

"Charlie Brown" is coming to town!

Serramonte High School's production of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" is in its final stages of rehearsal for its opening night, May 11.

Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Little Theater of the school on May 11, 12, 18 and 19.

Members of the cast include Amy Schwimmer, Ted Wegmann, Evan Pappas, Martina Karapiet, Jim Pappas, Leanna Stehle, Lori Kaplan, Mark Brown, and Alisa Cooper. Music for the production is provided by an ensemble whose members are Angie Pereira, Pam McNeil, John Pereira, David Kaplan, Warren Dale, Jim Martinez, and Larry Karp. Musical direction is under Jan Gaynor with Diane Streeter directing the actors and being in charge of the total production.

Tickets for the production can be obtained from cast members or at the school.

'Coffee Break' Series Ending

The last "coffee break" of the school year will focus on media materials available to students and teachers at Crestmoor High School and on developing human relations through the curriculum.

All parents are being encouraged to hear Vice Principal Curtis Wilcox; and representatives of guidance, learning center, and curriculum departments.

Mrs. Loise Nierenberg, 2510 Crestmoor Drive, will be hostess for the event in her home at 10:15 a.m. today.

Jewish Center's Slymnastic Series

Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center, under the auspices of Joan Klein, will start a 14-week Slymnastic morning session from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, starting on May 8.

The Evening Slymnastic Session will be held Mondays and Wednesdays from 8 to 9 p.m., starting May 14.

Sabbath Service Time Is Changed

Beginning with Sabbath Services May 4, Congregation B'nai Israel will alter its starting time to 8:30 p.m.

Services are held at 1575 Annie Street, Daly City, and are conducted by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Henry Greenberg, assisted by the president of the congregation. A. Arthur Hirschhorn, and a member of the Religious Practices Committee.

Rabbi Edwards has chosen "Are We 'Free' at Last?" as his sermon topic for the evening and the ladies of the congregation will hostell the Oneg Shabbat (social hour), following the service.

Sabbath services will begin at 10 a.m.

"The Two Israels" is the sermon title selected by Rabbi Edwards.

The service will be followed by a Kiddush and discussion period.

Rabbi Edwards served as a sponsor of the dinner in honor of the 25th anniversary of the State of Israel and the 80th birthday of Benjamin Sig, San Francisco community leader.

The dinner was held May 1 at the Fairmont Hotel and was co-ordinated by the State of Israel Bonds Organization of Northern California. Swig has, for many years, been an honorary member of Congregation B'nai Israel.

Rabbi Edwards is to lecture to the junior and senior classes at Terra Nova High School, Pacifica, on the subject of "Judaism, its History and Theology" on May 9.

Rabbi Edwards also will appear on "Clergy on the Line" on Radio Station KGO on May 6, from 6-8 p.m.

Terra Nova Topics

By DENISE BARR

For the second consecutive year, Terra Nova' magazine, Tiger Tales, has received a first-place certificate in the news-magazine division of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's annual National High School Journalism Contest. Tiger Tales was in competition with about 160 other high schools.

The staff of Tiger Tales received perfect scores in all specific writing categories: news, sports, features, and editorials. They also achieved a perfect score in proof reading. Out of 300 possible points given for general writing and editing, Terra Nova scored 280. The category of "headlines" was the only section in which a perfect score was not received.

"Editorials well done," "Faculty and clubs appear well represented," and, "Features are interesting and very well written," were some of the positive comments made by the C.S.P.A. judges.

The judging was based upon work in three Tiger Tale publications, the two spring issues from last school year, and the first issue of the school year.

TERRA NOVA'S American Field Service held a garage sale in March and raised $60. The club will use the money to finance an exchange student to attend Terra Nova next year

STEVE CALAIS, former Tiger Tales award winning Sports Editor, won a third place in this year's annual Journalism State Conference Contest in Los Angeles.

Calais competed against writers from 60 other colleges.

Marriage Ending For the Chases

Attorney Charles E. Chase, a member of the Sequoia Union High School District Board of Trustees and an unsuccessful Republican candidate for election to Congress from San Mateo County's new Eleventh District last fall, filed a petition in Superior Court Friday for dissolution of his 13-year marriage.

According to the petition, Chase and his wife, Barbara, were married Dec. 31, 1959, in Pacific Grove, and separated April 4 of this year.

The Chases have a son, William 6, and reside in Belmont.

In his petition, Chase asks that he and his wife be awarded joint custody of the son, that child support be awarded by the court, but that spousal support not be awarded.

Chase did not seek re-election this year after serving a four-year term as a member of the Sequoia board of trustees. He was nominated as Republican candidate for the Eleventh Congressional District seat last spring, but was defeated in the November general election by Democrat Leo J. Ryan, whose marriage ended in dissolution in June of 1961.

The marriage of the county's other congressman, Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey, also recently ended in dissolution.

Pacifica's Reprieve

Pacifica has received a six-month reprieve over losing a large segment of its city staff, and facing the necessity of cutting back on its city services.

Finance Officer John Pratt revealed Thursday that he has received word that the Emergency Employment Act has been extended from June 30 to Dec. 31. The decision would have comparatively little effect on the city budget since under new state law, the tax-rate — already highest in San Mateo County — cannot be raised anyway. Thus, a cutback in service was the sole alternative.

A potential $128,505 awaits Pacifica for the six months period, should its application to continue the program be accepted. At stake are 14 city employes, although there are a total of 22 positions open. A number of employes had been seeking other jobs and several had already resigned.

Involved are 11 employes of the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Dept., two apiece in the fire and police departments, and various miscellaneous posts.

Immunization Clinics Halted: Now 'Well Baby'

The Health Division of the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare has discontinued its monthly family immunizations clinics at the district health office.

All immunizations now are given in the child health conferences, better known to many as Well Baby Clinics. Immunizations will still be offered to children to 18 years of age. Immunzations offered are DPT (Diphtheria, pertusis, tetanus), DT (diphtheria, tetanus), polio measles and german measles (rubella).

Since the hours that immunizations will be available to the general public in the clinics will be variable, it is suggested that individuals contact their district office for time and location.

District offices are in South San Francisco, 1024 Mission Street, Phone 373-1800; San Mateo, 225 West 37th Avenue, Phone 573-2501; Redwood City, 860 Charter Street, phone 364-5600 Ext. 4484; and East Palo Alto, 1645 Bay Road, Phone 364-5600, Ext. 2395.

Top Industrial Arts Students

The instructors of Westmoor's five industrial arts classes have announced the students who received Student of the Month awards.

Amedio Bonanno has chosen Gary Hilmoe in metal shop.

Bart McHair was chosen by Jim Lair in woodshop. Frank DeCoito selected Tim Waters in electronics and Phil Skarlanic was selected in auto shop.

Lawrence Carlson chose Perry Ash and Spiro Makraf in drafting.

Sorority Unit Plans Meeting

Xi Lambda Sigma Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will meet at 8 pm., at the home of Mrs. Daniel O'Connell, South San Francisco.

The cultural program will be presented by Mrs. Dominic Cola and Mrs. Ryan Dawdy of San Bruno.

Coastside PWP Meeting Planned

The new coastside Chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet on May 11 at 8 p.m., at Pacific Manor Elementary School on Oceana Boulevard in Pacifica.

For other information, call Don Del Visco, (873-2146).

Summer Jobs Program for Youth

The Mid-Peninsula Summer Jobs Program is currently canvassing business and industry in the area to locate summer jobs for young adults.

The Summer Jobs Program was created in 1968, when a coalition of business leaders, government officials, and educators was formed to seek employment opportunities, primarily for minority and disadvantaged youth.

In the summer of 1972, the Program placed between 350 and 400 young adults in full and part-time jobs, according to Richard Storm, Coordinator of Vocational Education for the Sequoia Union High School District, and this year their goal is to find 750 jobs, in a job market which is not as depressed as it was a year ago.

Currently, placement offices located at Menlo-Atherton, Ravenswood, and Sequoia High Schools, are building lists of summer jobs, and screening applicants to try to match the worker to the job specifications. Chairman of the program this year is Robert Paterson, Pacific Telephone Company, Palo Alto.

The Program will serve as a clearing house, providing as it does a source of young adults who are anxious to work, a trained staff to interview all applicants, and a referral service which refers only the applicants best suited to the job to prospective employers.

Paterson and Storm have urged anyone needing summer employees on either full or part-time basis to call Menlo-Atherton High School, Ravenswood High School, or Sequoia High School.

Charge Faces S.S.F. Man

Robert Kingston, 57, 932 El Camino Real, South San Francisco, will face a charge of murder in Superior Court on May 2.

The date was set Monday by Judge Charles Becker, in the Northern Judicial District, as he held Kingston to answer to superior court on the charge. Bail was set at $50,000, and Kingston remains in jail.

Among those testifying in Monday's hearing was South San Francisco Police Officer John Thomas Moran Jr., Dr. David Groshong, and two witnesses, David Charles Gard and Kenneth Russell Pucci.

Kingston operated an airport limousine service until his arrest.

Police Assn. Circus Due

The Peninsula Police Officers' Association is presenting the Miller-Johnson Circus at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds Wednesday through Saturday.

The benefit performances for the Associations' Widows and Orphans Fund will be highlighted by high wire acts, lions, elephants, and clowns. Show times are 4:30 and 8 p.m. on May 2, 3 and 4, with three performances at 11 a.m., 3 and 7 p.m. on Saturday.

Junior Museum Names PR Aide

The Board of Trustees of the San Mateo County Junior Museum has appointed Maxine Michaels Wood as public relations director.

Mrs. Wood, formerly a public relations executive with J. Walter Thompson Company, will coordinate all communications for the present facility at Coyote Point as well as for the expansion program now under way.

The museum, recently awarded accreditation in the Association of American Museums, is constructing a new facility on a 29-acre site above the present location.

Merlin Murray Dies Sunday

Merlin Murray, 61, of 1057 Sycamore Drive, Millbrae, died a short time after being brought into Peninsula Hospital Sunday morning, the coroner's office reported today.

Post Office Employes Score Poster Campaign

In an apparent effort to offset continued criticism of its operational procedures the United States Postal Service came out today with ten new issues depicting its varied services to patrons.

The eight-cent stamp series, titled "People Serving You," shows post office employes in various jobs such as sorting, mail handling, letter carriers, clerks, window service and rural free box delivery.

Designed to bolster sagging esprit de corps of its own people, the message imprinted on a poster sent to all employes, at an estimated cost of hundreds of thousands of taxpayers' dollars' dollars, points out that "our customers . . . recognize the importance of your job."

The message is signed by Postmaster General E. T. Klassen.

Instead of boosting morale among postal employes, the elaborate poster campaign has sparked criticism from within the post office's own ranks.

Many called it a "waste of money," dollars they felt could better be spent to hire more personnel, schedule more frequent box collections and, in the case of business, perhaps additional daily deliveries.

Klassen, on the other hand, aimed the message at the postal workers, his biggest critics in recent months.

"This is a memento for postal people. The stamp series depicted here was issued (today) to help focus public attention, in a unique and personal way, on the most important asset of the U.S. Postal Service — our people.

"Each stamp shows postal people in actual work situations. Collectively, the stamps highlight the wide variety of tasks performed by dedicated persons helping to move the mail.

"I hope that these stamps will help the American people — our customers — recognize the importance of your job and that this memento will provide you with a continuing source of personal pride," Klassen's message said.

Richard Griffith, president of the postal workers' San Bruno local, has been a long-time critic of Klassen's personnel cutbacks.

He thinks the postal service should spend more funds for hiring people and less for publicizing itself.

Griffith feels a satisfied patron is the best publicity for the organization.

Until recently, the post office had placed a freeze on hiring of all personnel.

Klassen has lifted that freeze for certain categories and hiring of employes has begun.

Since it was reorganized in an effort to shape it into a profit-making corporation, the postal service has been hit with a mounting barrage of criticism from its own ranks and from patrons alike.

In a recent interview, Klassen said the Post Office has always been the recipient of criticism from patrons.

But as Griffith points out, only since its "reorganization" has this agency been git so hard from its own workers.

Youth Held In Assault

David P. Hinds of Millbrae was arrested by Burlingame police on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after allegedly swatting another man with a tire iron.

Charles J. Malaspina, of 712 First Avenue, San Bruno, was taken to Peninsula Hospital with a head injury, police reported. His treatment included five stitches to close an open wound in his scalp, they said.

Hinds, 19, was held on $5,000 bail after his parole officer said he had violated the terms of his probation from a previous conviction.

Sgt. Oliver Kruttschnitt said the incident occurred early Saturday at 948 Howard Avenue, a block away from a dance the two young men had attended.

Sgt. Kruttschnitt reported that Hinds told him Malaspina had shot at him, but no gun was found by police.

It took a lot more than a smooth ride to make Ford Torino the best selling car in the mid-size field.

The closer you look, the better we look.

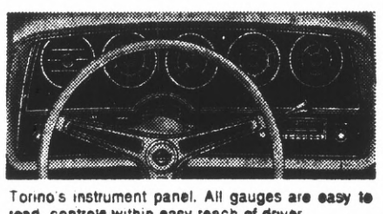
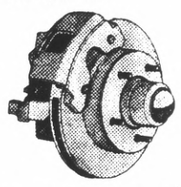
Optional AM/FM stereo radio with front and rear dual speakers.



Torino's instrument panel. All gauges are easy to read, controls within easy reach of driver.

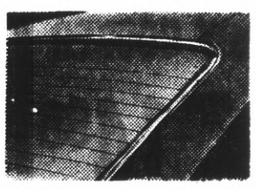


Front disc brakes are standard on Torino. Power front disc brakes optional.

Behind Torino's smooth ride are better ideas in engineering. Like angle mounted shock absorbers for increased directional stability. Rubber body/frame mounts that help isolate the passenger compartment from road shocks. And a coil spring rubber-insulated front suspension that helps minimize noise and road vibration.

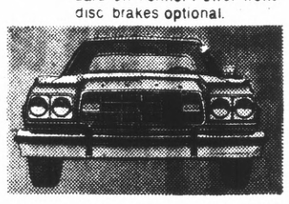
Inside you'll find expansive room up front. Plus the kind of luxury you'd expect from high priced automobiles.

So take a good, close look at Ford Torino for '73. Discover why it's become the best selling car in the mid-size field.



Optional electric rear window defroster. (Torino's major competitor doesn't offer it.)

Torino offers optional steel-belted radial ply tires on all models.



A longer wheelbase and wider front and rear track than major competitor, for a smooth, stable ride.

School Expansion Plans Told

Laguna Salada School trustees voted to expand the offerings of their school district on two fronts, at their meeting Thursday night.

They approved an application to the state for $282,000 for categorical aid funds, which included a $62,335 request to start an early childhood education program.

They also approved an expansion of the present alternative school program now in its first year in Vallemar, to include a Grade 3-5 program. The current program is kindergarten through second grade.

In spite of certain objectives, the trustees agreed to select Westview and Portola schools to start the early childhood education program — a program for children as young as three years nine months of age.

Early childhood education is gram designed to equalize readiness for children starting kindergarten. Criteria for students include ethnic background and economic need. Objections had been raised that Portola School would not qualify under this criteria, but it was finally chosen on the basis of the high degree of parent involvement. Other considerations include third grade reading scores, enthusiasm of the staff and potential for success.

The $282,000 application for categorical aid funds also included:

—$101,237 for Elementary-Secondary Education Act Title I, to include expanded counseling, and to pay for two teachers, 18 instructional aides, books and supplies.

—$10,368 under ESEA Title II, for library books.

—$106,135 under the Miller-Unruh Reading Act, to include additional aides, as well as special reading teachers.

Supt. James Brien noted that the ESEA project will make funds available to start a special reading program in Pacific Manor, as well as to continue the current project at Westview School.

Trustees received an enthusiastic report of the success of the alternative school program at Vallemar. They approved hiring another full time aide to help the four teachers who will be teaching the newly expanded alternative program at Vallemar School. All children in the district will be eligible for the program, providing their parents agree to work on the program too. The third to fifth grade program will include 64 pupils.

Students will be selected on the basis of volunteering, their sex and grade level and if necessary, a public lottery.

The program provides an informal famly-room learning atmosphere with no formal grades. The object is to promote among the children intellectual growth, positive self-concepts, creative thinking and expression and self-direction, accorling to Brien.

Business Manager Noah Reese had an encouraging report on the school cafeterias and a discouraging report on vandalism.

The cafeterias, he told the board, made money — a total of $3380 for January, February and March — in spite of giving away $2150 worth of free meals. District average use of the cafeterias was 39 per cent, ranging from 27 per cent at Ortega to a hefty 55 per cent at Westview School.

Vandalism, for the first three months of the year, cost the district's taxpayers $1835, of which $63 was collected in payments. However, most of that money was collected from the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Dept. for damage done during the J-Teen activities.

Most vicious damage was done at Pacific Manor School, where someone broke into the food supply and smashed 70 eggs, spread jam and vegetable oil all over, and stole a half dozen volleyballs and basketballs. However, the greatest money damage was done at Ortega School — some $237, for such things as broken windows and

SSF Remains In Limbo; No Engineer

South San Francisco's city government remains in limbo this week, as it functions without a city engineer — and without any plans for the future of this office — pending the May 22 election.

Last week's resignation of VTN, private consulting firm which operated many of the city's major offices as divisions of the Department of Ecological Development, removed VTN as an issue in the current election. However, with the present 2-2 council split, it appears to have left the city in a position when it cannot even plan to fill this city office, second only to the city manager in power.

Mike Wilson, recently hired as an administrative assistant to City Manager Gale Dreisbach, has been appointed acting director of DED, which includes the divisions of public works, building inspector, parks, recreation, as well as engineering.

Pete Milkovich, who has been acting as assistant to Fred Hull, VTN project director for South San Francisco, will continue to act as Wilson's assistant. His effort, according to Dreisbach, will be concentrated in the direction of parks and recreation.

Testimony Leads to Charge

A San Mateo man — already found guilty on two counts of robbery — faces a third robbery charge because of testimony he gave in court.

Twenty-eight-year-old Richard Charles Carroll was found guilty in Superior Court Monday of robbing the Mission Bell Motel in Daly City twice November 25 and December 8, 1972.

Defendant Carroll had argued that he was watching television at the Knight's Rest Motor Lodge in San Bruno when the November 25 robbery occurred.

During the course of the trial, Deputy District Attorney James R. Courshon subsequently decided to check out Carroll's alibi. Courshon instructed Daly City policeman Ray Mutter to go to the San Bruno motel. Officer Mutter is the policeman who arrested Carroll 15 minutes after the December 8 robbery in Daly City.

Officer Mutter went to the motel ond asked desk clerk George DeGifford if Carroll had stayed at the motel November 25.

DeGifford was about to check the guest register when Officer Mutter produced a photo of Carroll and asked the clerk if he recognized the man.

Indeed the night clerk did. DeGifford told Officer Mutter that the photo resembled a man who attempted to rob the Knight's Rest Motor Lodge on February 2, 1973.

Carroll will be sentenced on the two previous counts of second degree robbery in Superior Judge Robert E. Carey's court May 22.

3 Held for Trial in DC

Following a three-day closely guarded hearing in South San Francisco, three youths were held to answer yesterday on one count of murder and six counts each of assault with a deadly weapon.

They were Edwin J. Olmos, Mark Williams Garcia, 18, and Ronald Manuel de La Rosa, 20, all of San Francisco's Sunnydale Housing Project.

The trio is charged with the gang-style slaying of Kerry McDowell, 19, Daly City, in front of 451 Bellevue Ave. in Daly City, and of gunning down his companions, three of whom were in critical condition for several days.

Municipal Court Judge F. Jose de Lerios reduced the bail for Garcia and de La Rosa from "no bail" to $75,000 each. It was still no bail for Olmos. The trio will be arraigned in Superior Court in Redwood City May 16.

Judge de Lerios ordered two other youths released, holding that there was insufficient evidence to try them for murder and assault — Henry John Ontiveros, 19, and Patrick Alan Maestas, also of San Francisco. He also ordered a sixth youth charged with being an accessory, Leslie Paul Smith, 20, San Francisco, released.

Testifying yesterday for the prosecution were Patrick J. Maestas, father of one of the defendants; San Francisco Police Officer David Roccaforte, and Daly City Police Sgt. John Kolbman. Testifying previously were Dr. Arthur Lack, pathologist for the Coroner's office; Daly City Police Officer James Richardson; three of the alleged victims, Jack and Mike Clements and Mike McCown; Ricardo Prieto, who sold a car to a defendant; Laurie Jack, who testified to seeing one of the defendants that evening, and Arthur Smith, who lives across the street from a defendant and testified to seeing ammunition being handled.

The witnesses all came under the fierce cross-examination of six defending attorneys, one for each defendant

The hearing was the occasion of unusual security provisions. Four sheriff's officers were stationed outside the courtroom, and four inside, including a woman deputy. Every person entering the courtroom was thoroughly frisked, including newspaper reporters, every time he or she would enter. The first two rows were kept clear of spectators.

Skin Diver Dies On Coastside

Warren Hilgesen, 51, of Castro Valley was dead on arrival at the Moss Beach Rehabilitation Center after he collapsed while skin diving in the Moss Beach area late on Sunday morning, the coroner's office reported.

Investigators said he is survived by his widow, Barbara.

MPL: Burlingame Locking Up Title

By STEVE JOHNSON

The Mid-Peninsula League baseball race has suddenly become a gem for paradox freaks.

There isn't one — and there is one.

Burlingame has all but locked up the round-robin title. But the second race, the one for three remaining playoff berths, gets tighter all the time.

The Panthers bopped San Mateo yesterday, 6-2, for a 2½ game lead over second place partners Hillsdale and Crestmoor. The Knights took a 4-0 shutout over the Falcons to force the deadlock.

Mills blanked Aragon 1-0 to move within a game of a third place tie between San Mateo and idle Capuchino. That leaves five teams fighting for three spots.

Burlingame broke a 2-2 fourth inning tie on walks to Paul Kolesnikow and Tom Frederico, a run-scoring single by John Tulich, and an RBI ground-out by Brian Buckley.

Senior left-hander Tom Hockridge stretched his MPL record to 4-0 with his first complete game. He allowed only two unearned runs in the third.

Tulich, a second inning sub for injured starter John Ferreira, had three consecutive hits. Buckley had two hits, scored twice and drove in two.

Rich Barkle gave Kevin McWhirter some heavy batting support as the junior Knight right-hander struggled to his two-strikeout three-hit whitewash.

Barkle doubled a 2-0 Hillsdale lead in the top of the fourth with a homer to left following a walk to Dave Perez. An error and a bases-loaded walk to Barkle plated the other runs in the second.

Crestmoor, which lost only its first home game in five decisions, is protesting the game over a dispute on umpire's mechanics during an appeal play at third in the sixth. The Falcons left 11 men on the bases.

Pat Brennan pitched his second consecutive strong effort for Mills, striking out nine and walking three. Gary Hart's double and Dave Weil's following triple drove in the lone Viking run.

The Dons, who haven't scored for 21 consecutive innings, had their only scoring chance go down the drain in the second when Mills centerfielder, Dave Agrest, made an over-the-shoulder catch of a liner to deep center with runners at first and second.

SPAL

First place teams are usually the last ones to need any gifts in the course of a game.

But if they come, they almost always go right back down the opponents throat — and that's exactly what Carlmont did to San Carlos in a 13-2 debacle last night at Baylands Field.

The SPAL leading Scots scored a total of ten unearned runs, with the help of ten Don errors. The happy benefactor was Carlmont winner Bruce Herron, who got the first of nine league wins besides junior ace Bob Bedford.

San Carlos got off to a 2-0 lead in the first, but things went downhill quickly after that. The Scots came back for a 3-2 lead going into the third, when Mark Green struck the death blow.

Green rammed a bases-loaded triple to left for a 6-2 lead, and Carlmont never stopped — and neither did the woes of the SC defense.

Chief leaders of the Scot offense were Green and Curtis Spencer, who scored seven runs between them — with a total of one hit.

WCAL

Serra High's Dave Hile is a hot pitcher.

Last week in the San Mateo City Tournament, he threw a four-hit shutout at Aragon in the final round.

And last night at Beresford Park, he kept up the pace with a two-hit 4-0 shutout of St. Ignatius of San Francisco.

Hile had the bases loaded in the first with two outs, but got out of it on a pop to shortstop Reid Gotthardt. That was SI's last gasp.

Gotthardt scored an unearned run in the bottom of the first that was the eventual winner. John Caselli, Dennis Henneberry, and John Guenley drove in Padre runs later in the game.

Shutout

Serra High's tennis team scored its second straight shutout by blanking St. Ignatius 7-0 yesterday on the St. Ignatius courts.

Top match for the Padres was Robert Broagno's come-from-behind victory over Zukor in the No. 5 singles duel. Broagno won 2-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Le Pacini

Enjoyable

Tom King is one of the few people we know who not only puts something back into an endeavor what he gets out of it, but who enjoys it.

King is a former professional baseball player (nine years in the Pittsburgh farm system, including a cup of coffee with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League when the teams in it actually were on the Pacific Coast and it really was a AAA league one small step below the unexpanded majors) who, with partner Bill Broderson, masterminds Flying Goose Sporting Goods, a sports store on Taraval Street in San Francisco which does a very good business.

FLYING GOOSE is successful because King and Broderson know what they're doing, because they work hard, and possibly because they have all bases covered (excuse the pun) in that the store is located in San Francisco, and King is a Daly City resident while Broderson lives in Pacifica.

As some evidence of their success, it is noted that they outfit and supply well over 200 baseball teams (Little League, CYO, Babe Ruth League, etc.). This does not include their normal retail "off-the-street" business, which King says is up over 30 per cent since they moved into their large new store last September, or basketball teams. If Flying Goose isn't the biggest sporting goods store in the Bay Area, they're in the top one.

King and Broderson, in other words, are making a healthy profit. But as we noted up top, they put something back into it. Flying Goose sponsors baseball teams at every level from pee wee Little League squads on up to the "big kids" in the Joe DiMaggio League, a total of over 40 teams.

KING, WHOM we played against in high school ball when he was a good pitcher on a losing Galileo team, and with on a winning team in the old Funston Night League, puts in almost every spare hour working with kids in his capacity as manager of the Flying Goose Joe Dimaggio League entry. And he usually wins, and often develops top players. One of his "graduates," for example, is Ken Reitz, now playing third base for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Tom, obviously, is a man who loves his work. Perhaps his character, and his philosophy, can best be summed up with what he told his wife when they were first married. "Look, honey," he told her, "I'm going to work with kids. But I promise you, that for every hour I work with other kids, I'll put in one hour with our own kids."

He has and he does, and his own kids and his "other" kids are all making it, if not as athletes, as productive citizens.

P.S. If you want to see sandlot baseball at its best, here's plenty of notice. Go watch Flying Goose of Daly City meet Lou's 66 of Pacifica at the opening of the Joe DiMaggio League on June 10 at Terra Nova.

HENRY AARON, who we've always looked upon as a guy with a lot of class, disappointed us, recently, with what amounted to what we interpreted as some bad-mouthing of Babe Ruth in Wells Twombly's popular San Francisco Examiner column. Twombly assures us that it wasn't really like what it seemed to come out to be, that Aaron just doesn't think a comparison can be made of him and Ruth because of differing styles in two different and incomparable eras. But there are still some points to be made, and following is what Aaron said:

"To compare me to Ruth is ridiculous. He played in a different era . . . I like to think that what I've been doing is tougher. I have to worry about jet lag and tougher schedules. Ruth traveled in Pullman cars and played all day games. He could rest some, although they tell me that wasn't the biggest thing on his mind. Some of his homeruns went into the bleachers on one bounce.

"That rule has been dead for a long time. I don't know how

Cougars, Raiders On Top

Two teams, the LBYA Cougars and the OLM Raiders, are tied for first place with two wins and no losses in the Daly City Recreation Department's Boys Baseball Eighth Grade Junior League.

That and other league summaries follow.

EIGHTH GRADE JUNIOR LEAGUE — OLM Raiders 17, OLM Blue Sox 3:

In a frustrating game for the Blue Sox, there was one outstanding discovery, the Blue Sox found that they can hit the ball and that in the future that they will be tough to deal with. For the Raiders, everything was sweet and they have made people look to them as an early season favorite. Dick Galliani and Craig Garritty were outstanding for the Raiders.

AAA Murderers' Row 14, St. Thomas More 10:

The Murderers' Row broke loose for seven innings to win the game and break into the victory column. St. Thomas More also hit the ball but not with the impact of Murderers' Row. Orlando Hernandez, with a 2 run double and Adolfo Perez, with a 3-run homer were the stars for the Murderers' Row.

LBYA Cougars 16, OLPH Orioles 0:

Once again, LBYA got nearly flawless pitching from its talented pair of Mike Smith and Roy Wockmetooah. This week, the pair gave up only 1 hit and faced only 18 batters in 6 innings, which is, incidenatlly, perfect. Hitting star was Howard Calhoun who had a perfect game with a home run and two singles.

SEVENTH GRADE INTERMEDIATE — PAL Cauly Litho Liners 7, PAL Colts 6:

For the second week in a row, the Liners got strong pitching and adequate hitting to win. Pitching for the Liners was shared by Gary Ullom, Robert Avila and Tony Moquin. Moquin was also tough at bat as he doubled and scored 2 runs for the Liners. Billy Fry was also tough for the Liners as he scored twice and stole four bases. Leading hitter for the Colts was Brian Jones with 2 hits.

OLM Mets 5, St. Thomas More 3:

In a well played game, the OLM Mets pullde out a 5-3 victory. Don Giovetti and Tom Murphy were the pitching and hitting stars of the game.

Carriage House 7, LBYA 0:

The name of the game was "pitching" as Mike McLennen and Ram Morton combined to throw a three-hitter for Carriage House.

OLPH Tigers 7, SAL 3:

The Tigers received outstanding pitching from Ben Parodi and hitting from Ron Salangsang who got three hits in three at bat.

Enjoyable

many he hit that way, but I'd bet I was closing in on his legitimate homeruns last year. So I'm not upset about this thing."

AS TWOMBLY DULY notes, you talk to old-timers and they say how easy the youngsters have it, traveling comfortably, even luxuriously by jet; and you talk to the kids, and they talk about how easy the old-timers had it taking the pullmans, because it gave them time to relax and think about the next game.

What the modern kids evidently don't know, however, is that pullmans were noisy and bumpy and without air conditioning, as were hotel rooms; and what to get to sleep in eastern summers, players had to wrap themselves in water-soaked sheets dipped into the bathtub or under the shower.

And if Ruth played day games and bounced homers into the stands (how many would he have hit at Candlestick, where balls bounce off the artificial turf over the fence at least once or twice a game?), he didn't bat against new, clean white balls thrown into the game virtually every inning, nor hit it Atlanta, which may be the easiest park in the majors in which to hit homeruns (In Milwaukee, Aaron averaged 33 homeruns a season, in Atlanta, he's averaged 40).

AND, OF COURSE, Aaron broke in as a hitter at age 20. Ruth wasn't a full-time hitter until he was 25. Ruth played shorter schedules, and because the Yankees so often ran away with games and pennants, his managers could often afford to sit him but in late innings or for full games while the Braves have seldom enjoyed such luxury. Ruth was also walked much more often than Aaron. As a consequence, Ruth played an average of only 129 games per season as a hitter as against Aaron's 151, and Aaron has thus been officially to the plate, coming into this season, 2,048 times more than Ruth. Willie McCovey and Harmon Killebrew, among others, have a higher ratio of homeruns per time at bat than does Aaron, while Ruth leaves him out of sight in the category.

But this has not been to denigrate what Aaron has done. He is a great player, and we hope he breaks Ruth's record because he deserves to. But what Ruth did cannot ever be diminished by Aaron, or Roger Maris, or any of the modern players, just as Ruth might not have ever been able to touch some of the things the moderns are doing. They all deserve respect, not comparison.

WHILE WE'RE ON the subject of Ruth, we might as well reiterate the fact that he was a great all-around player, not just a hitter. Most fans know about what he also accomplished as a pitcher, but few realize what else he could do in the field. When we interviewed Carl Hubbell recently, he confirmed what we've been told over and over again by old-timers who played with and against Ruth.

"Ruth was a great defensive outfielder," said Hubbell, "with a great arm. And he probably made fewer mistakes than any outfielder who ever played. He was in a different league than me, but I heard players say that they don't ever remember seeing him throw to the wrong base. Just NEVER! He probably had the greatest instincts for the game of baseball than any man who ever played it."

Tigers of Terra Nova in a Runaway Threat in the NPL

Terra Nova High, threatening to make a runaway of the North Peninsula League race, teeters on its most important week of the waning 1973 regular season.

Marty Coil's Tigers currently sport a 9-1 league record, three full games ahead of anyone else with four contests remaining.

The Tigers got their ninth win at the expense of slumping Serramonte, 14-5, but more importantly were able to rest ace junior lefthander Steve Shirley, who will face the Westmoor Rams Monday at Marchbank.

Junior righthander Pete Wathen picked up yesterday's victory with a six-inning stint of five-hit ball. Jeff Simons and Steve Humphrey led the Tiger offense with two hits each as the heavy-swinging TN nine racked Serramonte's pitching for 13 hits.

The day's most exciting contest was also the year's longest. E Clamino, which dropped an earlier 2-1 decision to Jefferson, got revenge with a 10-inning 6-3 win over the Indians.

Junior righthander Gary Ottonello went the distance for the Colts, striking out ten and pitching a nine-hitter.

The Colts ended it mercifully in the tenth when Rich Wright walked, stole second and scored on Rudy Castellanos' single. Gary Vennarucci's ensuing triple plated Castellanos and Bill Sartin singled in the final run of the inning.

Jefferson's outfield defense kept El Camino in the game as they dropped three routine fly balls, two going for triples. Dale Edlemann struck out eleven in absorbing the loss.

Mike Dale drove in three runs and Jeff Ormonde fired a two-hitter as Half Moon Bay bombed Oceana 9-0. Ormonde struck out just two, but kept out of trouble by walking just two as he had the Sharks handcuffed.

A four-run fourth inning put the game away for the Cougars as Jay Alves doubled, Ray Reyes walked, Ormonde singled one run in and following a Steve Edwards single, Dale drove in the final run with a single to left.

Dennis Collier went into the seventh inning with a two-hitter but needed relief help from senior ace Terry Hendley as South San Francisco bested Westmoor 5-3.

Collier seemed to be tiring as he took a 5-0 lead into the last inning before two sharp singles excused him for the day.

Shortstop Rob Goldstein's two-run homer in the fourth inning provided the winning run for the Warrior, now in second place and the only team with a shot at catching the Tigers.

Serra's Head Cage Coach to South S.F.

For the fourth time in two years, Serra High School is looking for a head basketball coach.

The San Mateo school lost its present coach, Jim Brovelli, last week to El Camino in South San Francisco. He will replace Rene Herrarias.

Brovelli had been on the job at Serra for only one year.

Prior to his coming, Serra had lost, in order: Frank Nolan, Joe Callaghan and Dave Stevens. All left within the space of two years.

Brovelli had been brought to Serra from Portland University where he had been freshman basketball coach.

He quickly restored the Padres program and brought them a 20-5 overall record, the best in the history of the school.

His team won the 1973 West Catholic Athletic League round robin crown but lost in a special playoff game to Riordan of San Francisco for the overall championship.

The round-robin title was the first WCAL regular season championship in the history of the school.

Serra was 10-2 in regular season action this past season.

During the non-league campaign, Brovelli's team staged perhaps the biggest upset tournament victory for a San Mateo County prep team when the Padres, seeded last, took the Moreau Tournament championship in Hayward.

By taking the El Camino post, Brovelli will be stepping into a program which has never come up with a championship either.

El Camino, playing in the North Peninsula League, has yet to win that crown.

"It will be a challenge," Brovelli said. "I regret leaving Serra. I especially hate to leave the athletes who were responsible for the record Serra had last season. But I'm looking forward to the El Camino job."

Brovelli's hiring was confirmed last week by the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees.

He will begin work there in September.

He had been rumored for the position since January.

Respect Law Week Set

Daly City mayor Anthony Giammona has issued two proclamations this week dealing with the chiropractic profession's "Correct Posture Month" and "Respect for Law Week."

In his proclamation regarding Law Week, May 1-7, Giammona said crime and its effect upon the lives and property of citizens continues undiminished "despite efforts by government, citizens' organizations and many individuals."

He said the problem of crime touches all segments of society and undermines the moral and economic strength of communities and their citizens.

While there is still some reluctance on the part of some citizens to get involved in actions batting crime and the general disrespect for the law through its year-round efforts.

Giammona also proclaimed May as "Posture Month" and urged all civic, service and fraternal organizations, schools, youth organizations and all residents to cooperate with the California chiropractic profession and doctors of chiropractic in the community.

Boy Hurt on Mateo Street

A 4-year-old San Mateo boy was struck by a truck Saturday afternoon in that city.

According to the police report, Todd Zumkeller of 325 Cavanaugh Street darted into the street near his home and was hit by a truck driven by John Azevedo, 29, of 1119 Marsh Road in Redwood City.

Police said the child apparently ran in front of the truck from behind a parked vehicle on Cavanaugh. Azevedo was heading south on Cavanaugh and the victim was moving west to east across the street.

Atherton, MP Ask Out of Harbor District

Opposition to the proposed multi-million dollar Pillar Point Harbor improvement project north of Half Moon Bay is growing as two South County city councils passed resolutions last week, asking the county's Local Agency Formation Commission to withdraw them from the San Mateo County Harbor District.

One was Atherton, one of the county's wealthiest cities; the other was Menlo Park. Portola Valley councilmen previously passed a similar resolution.

Councilmen in all three cities have agreed their cities would receive no benefits from the county-wide 3-cent tax rate override proposed to be levied by the district. The annual cost to the average Menlo Park taxpayer, for example, was estimated at $40.

B. Sherman Coffman, executive director of LAFCO, has said the district's consultant, Koebig and Koebig, has presented two proposed plans to the district, one costing taxpayers about $3 million and the other $10 million. The project would be paid both from taxes and from revenue from the project, according to district directors.

The cost by cities and by plans would be as follows, according to the LAFCO report:

Atherton: $242,031 and $294,923.
Belmont: $334,717 and $406,864.
Brisbane: $82,845 and $100,095.
Burlingame: $664,697 and $785,586.
Colma: $24,777 and $31,192.
Daly City: $720,722 and $876,225.
Foster City: $196,924 and $239,958.
Half Moon Bay: $65,225 and $79,479.
Hillsborough: $307,025 and $374,121.
Menlo Park: $617,553 and $752,509.
Millbrae: $354,644 and $421,101.
Pacifica: $335,690 and $409,050.
Portola Valley: $100,846 and $122,884.
Redwood City: $762,633 and $929,294.
San Bruno: $475,494 and $579,405.
San Carlos: $472,960 and $576,318.
San Mateo: $1,255,738 and $1,530,160.
South San Francisco: $1,035,501 and $1,261,794.
Woodside: $156,993 and $191,304.
East Palo Alto: $126,178 and $153,752.
Unincorporated areas of the county: $3,070,056.

Deaths

JAMES B. PARKER

James B. Parker, 73, 444 Manor Drive, Pacifica, died Wednesday in Pacifica.

A native of Iowa, he had lived in San Mateo County for 11 years.

He is survived by his son, James B. Parker of Daly City; his daughter, Jo Ann Zavoral of Pacifica; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Chapel of the Highlands, followed by inurnment at Woodlawn Memorial Park.

ROSALIE SLIGHER

Rosalie Sligher, 51, 484 Inverness Drive, Pacifica, died in French Hospital in San Francisco April 24 after a six-month illness.

A native of Texas, she had lived in San Mateo County since 1955. She carried on her own custom designer business as an interior decorator.

She is survived by her husband, Ervin Sligher, Jr.; her son, Kevin, and her three daughters, Kathryn, Vicki and Crystle Sligher, as well as her mother, Etter McMillion, all of Pacifica.

Funeral services were conducted on Friday at 2 p.m. from Nauman & Lincoln Mortuary in Pacifica, were conducted followed by inurnment at Olivet Memorial Park.

ROSALEEN MULLAN

Rosaleen Mullan, 62, 454 Cherry Avenue, San Bruno, died April 24 in Burlingame.

A native of Ireland, she had lived in San Mateo County for 26 years.

She is survived by one son, Brian, of Burlingame, and a grandchild.

Services were conducted on Friday at 9 a.m. from Chapel of the Highlands, thence to St. Robert's Catholic Church for a mass at 9:30 a.m., followed by interment at Holy Cross Cemetery.

DAVID ALLEN

Funeral services for a former long-time San Bruno resident, David Allen, 81, were conducted at the First Assembly of God Church of South San Francisco.

Allen moved to Redwood City, where he lived at 716 Third Avenue, nine years ago. Previously, he lived on Mills Avenue in San Bruno. He has been in San Mateo County for 36 years. He was a native of Scotland.

Allen was a member of the American Legion, Post 409 of San Bruno, a long-time member of the Assembly of God Church of South San Francisco, and a member of the U.S. Civil Service Retirement Association. He was a retired welder from Hunters Point Shipyard.

He is survived by his widow, Rena. Services were held under direction of the San Bruno Funeral Home. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery, in San Bruno.

JOHN EDWARD STENFORS

John Edward Stenfors, born 101 years ago in Finland, died yesterday at San Bruno Convalescent Hospital, after cooking his way around the world.

He had retired as a cook for the McCormack Steamship Lines, and was a cook aboard millionaire James Fair's yacht. He took part in the cornerstone laying of San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel in the 1890's and the hotel owners noted his 100th birthday last year by sending a 40-pound cake with a replica of the Fair yacht atop it.

Stenfers was a resident of the Bay Area 86 years, most recently residing in San Francisco. He was a member of St. Francis Lutheran Church, the United Finnish Brotherhood, and the Sailors' Union of the Pacific.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Martha Burns of Burlingame and Mrs. Ann Dunn of San Mateo; a son, Edward E. Stenfors of San Francisco; five grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Funeal services will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. at Crosby-N. Gray Chapel, Burlingame, with interment at Olivet Memorial Park. The family suggests memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

Walnut Cake Fit for a King—or Company

By JULIA CHILD
The French Chef

"If I'd known you were coming I'd have baked you a cake—!" Rather than a pound cake, a sponge cake, an angel or a lady cake, a genoa or an almond cake, a chocolate or a spice or a caramel cake — when you know they're coming, bake them a walnut cake, with a whipped cream batter, a brandy filling, chopped nut sidewalls, and a white-frosted top covered with sweet words of love. Here it is.

LE BRANTOME
Walnut Layer Cake

For two 9-inch cakes layered together, serving 10 to 12 to 14.

- 1½ cups sugar
- 3 "large" eggs in a slant-sided mixing bowl with rounded bottom, and an electric mixer
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. pure vanilla extract
- 2 6-cup cake pans, such as 9 by 1½-inch round ones, buttered, lined with buttered paper, and floured lightly
- 1 cup (4 ounces) walnut meats pulverized in the electric blender
- 1½ cups all-purpose flour (measure by scooping dry-measure cups into flour and sweeping off excess)
- 2 tsp. double-action baking powder
- A flour-sifter or a sieve set on a 12-inch square of wax paper
- 1½ cups heavy cream in a 2½ quart mixing bowl, set in a larger bowl with ice cubes and water
- A portable electric mixer, or a large balloon shaped wire whip.

Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees. Gradually beat the sugar into the eggs at moderate speed, then continue beating at high speed for 5 minutes or more, until mixture is thick and the consistency of whipped cream. Beat in the salt and vanilla. (Note: the large bowls with wide flat bottoms that come with some mixers will not do the job here since all of the egg mixture should be in motion at once; substitute a narrower round-bottomed bowl.)

While eggs are beating prepare the cake pans; grind the walnuts; measure out the flour and baking powder and place it in the flour-sifter. Then whip the cream into "Chantilly" — meaning it should double in volume, and hold its shape softly when a bit is lifted and dropped back onto the surface.

When eggs are thick and creamy, sift ¼ of the flour on top, and fold it in with a rubber spatula — plunge spatula like a knife down into center of mixture, draw it to the side of the bowl and up to the surface in a rapid scoop, bringing some of the eggs up over the flour; rotate bowl slightly, and continue rapidly and gently for several scoops until flour is almost incorporated. Sift on and fold in ¼ of the remaining flour. Then scoop the whipped cream on top, sift on more flour and a sprinkling of nuts, and continue folding, alternating with sprinkles of flour and nuts until all are incorporated.

Turn the mixture into the two pans, dividing it as evenly as possible. They will be about ¾ full. With spatula, run batter up to rim of pans all around. Place at once in middle level of pre-heated 350-degree oven, spacing pans diagonally from each other at far and near corners of rack. (Or use 2 racks, and switch pans from one to the other halfway through baking.) Bake about 25 minutes — cakes will rise to top of pans, then sink lightly and brown, they are done when they show the faintest hair line of shrinkage from sides of pan. Let cool 10 minutes, then unmold on racks.

When cold, you may ice them, or you may wrap airtight and refrigerate or freeze them.

FILLING AND FROSTING SUGGESTIONS

Brandy-butter filling

- 1 egg in a small saucepan
- 3 TB. Cognac or Armagnac
- 2 TB. butter
- ½ TB. CORNSTARCH
- ⅛ CUP SUGAR
- ¼ TO ½ MORE TB. butter, unsalted
- About 1½ cups warm apricot glaze (1½ cups apricot jam, sieved, and boiled to the thread stage, 228 degrees, with 3 TB. sugar)
- About 1½ cups chopped walnuts

Glace Royale frosting

- 1 egg white in a small mixing bowl
- ¼ tsp. lemon juice
- 2 cups or more, confectioner's sugar, sifted
- A portable electric beater
- Flavoring — 1 tsp. or so Cognac or vanilla extract.
- Optional: melted bitter chocolate or food coloring

For the brandy-butter filling, beat the egg, liqueur, 2 tablespoons butter, cornstarch, and sugar together over moderate heat, and let boil, stirring, for 2 to 3 minutes, to cook the starch. Remove from heat, and beat in 2 to 4 more spoonfuls of butter. The filling will thicken more as it cools.

Spread as much of the filling as you wish on top of one of the walnut cakes, and set it upon a circular cake rack over a tray. Turn the other cake upside down upon it. Using a pastry brush, paint top and sides of cake with the warm apricot glaze. Immediately, before the glaze has set, brush chopped walnuts around the walls of the cake. Transfer cake to a serving dish. . . .

For the glace royale, start beating the egg white, lemon juice, and a cup of the confectioner's sugar, beating several minutes until frosting is thick, smooth, and stands in peaks — you may need to beat in more sugar if frosting does not thicken enough. (If you are not using it immediately, or will have leftovers, scoop into a jar, lay 4 thicknesses of damp paper towels on top, and cover airtight.)

Spread a thin layer of frosting over the top of the cake. If you wish to make decorations or write messages, mix a little melted chocolate into about an equal amount of frosting, or use drops of food coloring, and squeeze the colored frosting through a paper decorating cone (French Chef Cookbook No. 119).

Decorated cake will keep nicely for several days under refrigeration, covered with an upside-down bowl. . . .

Crime Victims Need Help, Says SSF Judge

A plan for greater help to victims of crime was made by Municipal Judge Walter Capaccioli in a talk to the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, at the Holiday Inn.

He pointed out that many agencies are working hard to ensure that all the rights of the criminal are scrupulously respected.

"But who speaks out for the victim himself?" he asked. "Practically no one."

He added that the victim "must even pay his own way to the hospital."

The judge observed that "sometimes the criminal escapes punishment altogether . . . but the vitctim never does."

The victims usually cannot exercise their claims against the criminals because criminals are usually indigent or are not responsible persons.

He noted that California was the first state to adopt into law a system for compensating the victim, which it did three years ago. However, the current laws are very inadequate and need strengthening. A bill that has been introduced into the legislature to this end is enduring a good deal of opposition.

One problem, he noted, is that there is a $5000 limit to what the victim may collect. Another problem is that the victim must be indigent to collect anything — rather than be compensated as a matter of right.

"The state has a moral obligation to the victim," the judge declared. "the most neglected aspect of our legal system."

S.S.F. Arson Probed

South San Francisco fire and police officers are conducting an intensive investigation into an arson early on Wednesday which caused more than $5,000 damage to the Hertz Truck Rental office at Linden and South Canal Avenues.

Fire broke out in three different spots, confirming that it was arson, firemen said.

Policemen said that someone had aparently crashed a two-ton refrigerated truck into the wall of the rental office, then set fire to the cab and engine area, to the contents of the truck, which consisted of packages of luncheon meats and to the office itself.

The first alarm came in at 3:03 a.m., followed by a second alarm at 3:08 a.m. A total of 13 men in four companies brought the flames under control within five minutes — but took two more hours to douse all smouldering embers.

Duty Free Shop Opens Airport

The first "duty free shop" for international travelers passing through San Francisco International Airport has been opened without public ceremony

Airport Director William J. Dwyer said the shop is operated by Duty Free Shoppers Ltd., an experienced firm with smilar outlets in Honolulu, Tokyo, Paris, Anchorage, Fairbanks, Guam and Hong Kong international acrports.

The Duty Free Shop is in the South Terminal, adjacent ao the foreign departure ticket counters. The new service complements the present international air carriers, said Dwyer, by offering passengers traveling outside the USA a variety of foreign and American merchandise at a substantial savings.

Robert L. Matousek, formerly manager of Duty Free Shoppers, Honolulu Operation, will serve as branch manager with responsibility for West Coast development. Gerald F. Ludden, a graduate of the University of San Franciscio, has been appointed airport store manager.

Personnel employed by the shop speak English, French and Japanese, and are specifically trained to assist customers in the laws governing customs duties and allowances of the various countries. The Duty Free Shop will operate on a daily basis between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. and 4 to 10 p.m.

$2,000,000 In Permits For S.S.F.

Nearly two million dollars in building permits were issued in South San Francisco in April.

Largest project consisted of two permits totaling $1,000,000 which will allow construction of the shell for a warehouse and office structure for Carpenter and Offutt Paper Inc., now located in South San Francisco. The giant plant will be erected on 333 Oyster Point Boulevard in the Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Industrial Park.

A total of 34 building permits were issued for a group of single family homes to be built on Westchester Court in the West Park area of Westborough. The permits, ranging from $22,500 to $25,500, will be built by Avco Community Developers.

A $60,000 permit was issued to Xerox to remodel their facility at 343 Allerton Avenue. A $15,000 permit was issued to Barrett Truck and Auto Leasing to erect an office building at 160 Produce Avenue. A $34,000 permit was issued to Charter Investment to remodel 20 Chestnut to a liquor store.

permits issued for major rebuilding of older homes in neighborhoods throughout South San Francisco. They included:

Pete Mazzanti, to raise home four feet and finish, $6650.

N. N. Ryan, 32 San Felipe Avenue, two-story addition, all-purpose room, two bedrooms and bath, $9800.

John Kessel, 117 Verano Drive, bedroom, bath and deck, $7950.

Faustin Escalante, 339 Arroyo, two-bedroom addition, $7600.

W. B. Finley, 316 Alta Loma, family room, bathroom and deck, $8600.

N. Sartori, 1039 Grand Avenue, enclose and add to front porch, remodel kitchen, $7500.

D.C. Arrests 4 on Drugs

Daly City police have arrested four persons on various drug charges.

The first arrests came at 10:30 Sunday as narcoties' agents led by Detective Roger Austin arrested Kenneth Allen Welch, 22, and a woman friend, Regina Dixon, 18, at the pair's home at 228 Abott Street, Daly City.

The pair was charged with possession of cocaine for sale and possession of marijuana. The value of the drugs confiscated has not been determined as yet, police said.

In an early morning raid, another team of police arrested Raymond Williams, 21, and his wife, Juliana, 22, in their apartment at 410 88th Street shortly before 8 a.m.

The couple was charged with possession of heroni.

Quarter Horse Racing Now at Bay Meadows

The Eve-ettes, a talented troupe of performers who open and close each of the four revues presented nightly at Finocchio's, has a spectacular opening number which spotlights the chorus line in black derbies, leotards, and even trick canes. Songs such as "Strike Up The Band" and "Cabaret" are applause getters . . . Quarter Horse Racing is the current attraction at Bay Meadows in San Mateo. There's racing nightly, Tuesday through Saturday, with each evening's post time being 7:45 p.m. The new, low-priced admission charge of $1.50 also permits entry into Bay Meadows' Turf Club . . . The Hungry Tiger restaurant in San Mateo features such delectable appetizers from the Oyster and Seafood Bar as Freshly Shucked Cherry Stone Clams on the Half Shell, Jumbo Shrimp Cocktail, Freshly Shucked Oysters on the Half Shell, Fresh Crab Cocktail, Steamed Clams, Seafood Platter, Oysters Rockefeller and Clams Casino. The Hungry Tiger restaurants, with nine California locations, are nationally known for their excellent seafood and fine prime steaks . . . Praise aplenty goes to Bob Checci and Burt Zanders, chefs extraordinary at the Brentwood Lodge, South San Franciscio, who are responsible for the quality of the food on the new menu here. Besides moderately priced complete dinners, a la carte items are also available . . . Warren Halpin has been appointed manager of the Costa Brava restaurant, it was announced by co-owners Norm Eichelmann and Art Polizzi. Halpin comes to the San Francisco restaurant with many years experience in the Bay Area. His most recent position was restaurant and bar manager of the London Lodge in Oakland. If you're planning a wedding reception, anniversary celebration, or whatever the function, the banquet facilities will accommodate large or small groups.

ANNOUNCES OFFICIAL OPENING — Larry Bertolucci, co-owner of Bertolucci's restaurant in South San Francisco, swings open the doors of the newly remodeled and expanded cocktail lounge. There is pianobar entertainment, plus a convenient new entrance adjoining the parking area. Everythinr is new, including new jackets for the bartenders. The new banquet room, with its permanent dance floor, will accommodate 150 persons.

Night At The Castle Whiskey Hill's New Act

Opening tonight at Whiskey Hill in Burlingame for a lengthy stint is Night At The Castle. Century continues to perform on Monday and Tuesday nights . . . Frank and Fannie Tottes are known throughout the state of California for their South American specialties of the house at their Torres Beach Restaurant, located just south of Devil's Slide in Montara, Coast Highway One. Frank and Fannie have been operating this business since the 1920's and their reputation has grown as they and their operation have grown . . . Don't they have good seafood restaurants in Las Vegas and Los Angeles? Sammy Davis Jr. told Richard Patane, manager of The Fisherman in Burlingame, that it would be hard to beat the Bay Area with its many famous restaurants. Twice Sammy and his party visited the Burlingame restaurant. Sammy loved the Sea Bass alla Via Reggio. Beauteous Diahann Carroll dined here five times, each time feasting on a double order of baked clams.

Welcome To Tios New Mexican Restaurant

Tios Mexican Restaurant, welcome to the fold! "Tiny" and "Benny" Burgos have swung open the doors of their new restaurant, located at 1622 Palm Avenue (one block East of El Camino off Seventeenth Avenue) in San Mateo, and invite you to drop in for lunch or dinner and feast on their authentic Mexican cuisine. The popular enchiladas, tamales, and tacos are given gourmet treatment. A complete menu of favorite Mexican dishes is also available for take out. Yes, there are fine wines and beer (also imported Mexican beer). It's a fine introduction to Mexican cuisine for the uninitiated . . . The Omelette House, on Peninsula Avenue in San Mateo, features a Little Folks Menu that not only suggests young one's sized portions, but keeps the youngsters busy with the games and puzzles on its reverse side. The new outdoor patio here is a great spot to catch some sunshine while enjoying a leisurely lunch . . . The Ben Jonson restaurant at the Cannery is one of the rare establishments in San Francisco where you can hear Chamber Music. The Musica Della Strada, three accomplished classical musicians, play 45 minute sets, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Natale Returns To San Jose Black Angus May 1

Natale, a Black Angus favorite returned to San Jose last night to entertain nightly in the cocktail lounge at Stuar Anderson's Black Angus restaurant. Loved by all, this triple-threat, all-star entertainer dazzles you with his uninhibited humor, vibrant vocals, and his sizzling piano artistry. Natale captures his audience and they react by standing ovations almost every night. Natale returns to San Jose from his recent engagement at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant in Seattle. Natale will entertain nightly (Tuesday through Saturday) at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant, Winchester at Payne, in the West Park Plaza, San Jose. Drew Serb and Company has again been held over at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant in San Mateo. This group (three guys and a gal) makes all types of music, much of it inspired by the Las Vegas-style of presentation. In fact, they are presented on an elevated stage behind the bar, as you find in many Nevada casinos. You can dance to them on the "2001" Stainless Steel dance floor Wednesdays through Sundays . . . Brother Forg, with Butch and Frog, gie, opened at Deejay's in Belmont to a big crowd of Tuesdas-night dancing fane.

Enjoy Flaming Coffee Tableside

Dining is a gourmet experience from appetizer to dessert when you select from the varied specialties at the Hilton Inn's romantic French Corner restaurant. For the grand finale, maitre d'hotel Alphonse Vancheri prepares flaming coffee at your table: the traditional Irish coffee, Russian coffee with Kahlua and Vodka Spanish coffee and others. There's dancing Thursday through Saturday to the music of Maurice Anger's Band; Tuesday, Wednesday Maurice is at the pianobar. . . . Such Italian specialties as Veal Scalloppini, Fettuccine and Cannelloni can be found on the extensive dinner menu at the elegant Leaning Tower, in South San Francisco. There is also a selection of steaks from the charcoal broiler, with a big favorite at this time of the year being the Giant New York Steak . . . Fred Dimato, cordial new owner of the International Gourmet Deli, located in the Borel Square, can't seem to keep track of his busy crew. Half his staff is usually away from the Deli making deliveries or handling catering jobs . . .

Two Restaurants And Bars Within 100 Feet

Ever hear of one man owning two restaurants and bars within 100 feet of each other? Well, Nick Gust does — and he's the proprietor of Nick's Restaurant and Lounge and The Moonraker, both located on the shores of the blue Pacific at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Featuring a different menu but the same fantastic view of the ocean from picture windows, each restaurant enjoys a thriving business. Reservations are suggested, this being the season for sightseers, tourists and celebrations. Illuminated oceanside dining is a crowd attraction at these popular party centers. Entertainment is provided by Don Kelly (at the organ) at The Moonraker; the Steve Romano Combo plays the sounds of every variety in the bustling lounge at Nick's . . . Things are moving at the usual fast pace at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. Under the supervision of Executive Chef Nick Mantozoros, who has worked under the Licata food banner for thirteen years, the savory seafood specialties and wonderful Italian dishes are pleasing families from all parts of the Bay Area. Since Vince's is open seven days a week from 11 a.m. (from 12 noon on Sundays), you can imagine the thriving business during the peak hours.

MUSICAL SPECTRUM — Cora and Santos, a San Francisco husband and wife musical team, entertain in the rooftop Veranda Lounge of the Westbury Ho- Francisco husband and wife musical team, entertain in the rooftop Veranda Lounge of the Westbury Hotel, San Francisco. They will entertain with vocals and instrumental support on piano, bass and banjo, Tuesday through saurday, from 9 p.m.

Scotty Campbell's Crew Rates Uniform Raves

The staff of Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City goes to the head of the class for smart attire. The bonnie lassies who serve the delightful dinner fare are clad in kilts of tartan plaid with matching tams perked at a devilish angle. All that is missing is a blast from a Scotch Bag Pipe — and even this happens in the dining room sometimes. Even the menu has a Scottish sound — with such dishes as The Highlander (New York sirloin designed for those with extra large appetites) and The Tartan (combination sirloin and scampi) bringing food raves. However, considered a house specialty is the Prime Ribs of Beef, served regular or English cut. And you can bet there's nothing "Scotch" about the portions. . . . Saluto's is becoming an informal before and after clubhouse for Peninsula Giant fans who stop by for lunch and cocktail hours on afternoon game days, or dinner and late night entertainment for evening ball games. Food service is available all afternoon. Cocktail hour features, as always, Larry Geraldi's 18 types of hot and cold complimentary hors d'oeuvres . . . If you're watching your diet between now and Mother's Day feasting, Phil Lehr's Pay-By-The-Ounce Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, should be one of the best bets. At the Steakery, you can order any size steak to suit your appetite, and the weight of the meat determines the tab for the complete dinner.

Pacifica Romano's Also Serves Italian Dinners

Enrico Romano, who operates Romano's Italian restaurant (Rockaway Beach, Pacifica), is known not only for his tasty pizzas, small, medium or large, but for his outstanding Italian dinners, which are served family style. Yes, Romano's is a wonderful place to dine with the entire family — the portions are plentiful, the service swift and efficient, and the wine list provides just the right touch to augment your meal, whether it be a simple cheese pizza or a full course veal dinner . . . "Volpone," the Ben Jonson play that depicts the lengths to which men of avarice will go, will be staged at San Jose City College May 3-5 and on May 10-12 in the campus theater at 8 p.m., by members of the drama department. "The cast is one of the finest the college has ever assembled," says Director Stuart Bennett . . . Jose Greco will perform in concert with a full company of dancers, singers, and his beautiful partner. Nana Lorca, at Mt. Pleasant High School auditorium, May 5, at 8 p.m. The concert is part of San Jose City College's Spring 1973 Cultural Series.

Contact Nearest Park Avenue Tours

Planning to drive to South Lake Tahoe? Contact your nearest Park Avenue Tours office (there are four) and take advantage of the bonus drive-up package. One or two-night bonus packages (double occupancy) are specialties of Park Avenue Tours. Trips are available seven days a week. The $10 bonus package includes $6 cash, $1 food value, and three cocktails. There are also Greyhound Bus "Turnaround Trips" which enable fun seekers to enjoy a few hours of "Entertainment the Nevada Way." Phone your local Park Avenue Tours office for details and departure times . . . "The Shirt Tail was the name of an old California gold mine and a Mother Lode saloon," reports Durby Adkins, manager of the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto, in asnwer to curious inquiries of how Adrian Stickney's restaurant got its name. However, the smart restaurant with its California-Contemporary look bears no resemblance to an old gold mine but it does have the same attractive appeal . . . If you like champagne and dancing while on a moonlight cruise, make reservations for the Jack London Wine and Dine Cruise which starts its third season May 4. Every Friday night the luxurious Harbor Tours boats at Fisherman's Wharf cruise across San Francisco Bay (with dancing onboard and free champagne) to historic Jack London Square, in Oakland, where you have a choice of six restaurants for a gourmet dinner with wine.

BART Basics

BART AIN'T SO BLACK when you get down to basics. But unless you knock the rail system nowadays you're on the wrong side of the tracks, so to speak. For the past eight years — give or take a few months — we've watched BART come from the drawing board to an operational system. Sure it's got bugs! So did a few planes, not to mention some of today's automobiles. And the latter is nigh onto 70 years old.

FOLKS RANT and rave about BART spending $1.4 billion for its system that still is sidetracked from time to time with bugs that must be taken care of — both in the equipment and personnel field. What they seem to forget, or don't want to know, is that BART has provided thousands of people with a weekly paycheck that has bought groceries, homes, cars, et al, for a lot of people in the Bay Area. And for every buck BART and the three county taxpayers have pumped into this outfit, Uncle Sammy has plunged treble that amount, money that would not have otherwise come into the area.

SO ALL WE'RE asking is for those columnists that write just to fill space (something we ourselves are frequently guilty of) to come off it! Get the full story and knock off the cutting simply for the sake of cutting. BART isn't perfect, far from it. It does need some housecleaning — top and bottom. But it sure beats watching Los Angeles or some other city getting a dozen years of federal money and the jobs that go with such projects.

WESTLAKE SHOPPING CENTER sneaked in a $10,000 time-temperature panel on their electronic sign board on Alemany Avenue while I was body surfing through the pubs in Hawaii earlier this month. Now, fellow motorists, there'll be no sweat in knowing what time it is or how hot it is, unless, of course, the temperature soars over 60 degrees in Daly City. It's all part of the "new look" that is supposed to sweep the center, Gene Perry tells.

MEANWHILE, WE WOULD be very happy if some sort of a crackdown were made on those persons (mostly kids) taking shopping carts out of the center and stashing them around town. They roll into streets, block sidewalks and dent car fenders. We even saw one kid pushing an empty cart east up Alemany the other p.m. (P.S. So did that cop in the patrol car.)

YOU CAN BET the next time that Colma recall petition goes around it WILL NOT lack for signatures. Mrs. Marion Daneluz and Mrs. Elsie Campbell have assured this column that there are a lot of folks waiting to sign up who hesitated the first time around.

And they are determined that regardless who stops by to "talk it over with them," to quote Mrs. Daneluz, they will stand by that determination. A Daly City attorney is now advising the petitioners on what steps to take. And they are listening.

FLASHY FLASH — We have learned that there is a new planner for San Bruno Mountain, hired by the Foremost-McKesson, AMFAC venture which hopes to develop the mountain.

The name: Hart-Krivatsy Stubwe. Among this outfit's many accomplishments are Silverado and Florida's Disney World, plus many housing developments.

DALY CITY ATTORNEY Al Polonsky stepped into that roofing bid tangle over who would repair the Old Daly City City Hall on Wellington after the original low bidder hurled some mighty charges around. The charges, according to Polonsky, stemmed from the fact that the city's purchasing agent intervened unnecessarily in negotiating bids after they were first opened.

A course at the Jack Johnson Roofing Company in Daly City said his bid was the lower of the two, that the purchasing agent asked for a review of the bid, and the next thing the roofing company heard the contract was to be given to another bidder who had "resubmitted" a bid lower than Johnson's.

In short; the mess was finally resolved by Polonsky after spending several days trying to untangle the facts sourrounding the case. The usual close-mouthed attitude of city hall officialdom originally shed little public light on the issue. They just don't like to talk about such matters, it appears. Who can blame them?

AND CITY ATTORNEY Polonsky isn't letting anyone get away with breaking the law in his city, nosireebob. For the past year he's been busy trying to bring justice to a Westlake area neighborhood. Last week he succeeded. A Redwood City judge issued an injunction against a German shepherd dog owned by Dino Donati, ordering it not to bark between certain hours of the day (or was it night)? Anyway, Donati understands the complaint, filed by four neighborhood residents, but he's wondering if the dog does. Do dogs read? Frankly, we think Polonsky's barking up the wrong street.

THOUGHTS OUT LOUD — Sounds unusual for Bud Lycett to be called simply "Mr. Lycett" or "councilman" after so many years of hearing him called "Mr. Mayor." Of course we've heard him called worse, mostly behing his back . . . And will D.C. City Planner John Walker be O-U-T following his talk to the city planning commission at last week's public hearing on redevelopment?

Walker got a rousing round of applause when it sounded like he took up the side of redevelopment opponents.

What he said was that he hasn't seen enough evidence of blight in the target area but that was not to say there wasn't blight there. He asked for more proof. With those remarks, the roof came off City Hall with cheers. Such cheers from city hall opponents often lead the way to name plates coming off desks.

THE FIRST ANNUAL Cardiac Classic, held at Franklin Canyon Golf Course in Rodeo was won by Bud Lycett (low net) and Pete Markovich (low gross) with a "Tough Breaks" trophy going to Al Sereni. Each of the five foursomes was led by a man who had suffered a heart attack — Judge Frank Blum, insuranceman Pete Markovich, Police Chief Ray Savage, Councilman Bud Lycett and Yours Truly.

It was a fine affair and proves, at least to this duffer, that it's better to be looking down at a ball imbedded in a sand trap, then looking up at it from below ground. Now, if we can just teach former Mayor Frank Pacelli to play golf he could sponsor a foursome next year.

THAT'S A NICE newsletter the D.C. Mission Merchants are now putting out each month. Keeps members up on what's going on around the city. The Mission Merchants are a real go-go outfit. Some other business groups could take lessons from them.

Paradise Lost

Reporter Relates Vacation Nightmare in Hawaii

By FRANK LAPIERRE
Post Staff Reporter

Hawaii has always been my wife's and my vacation dream.

It's a magic place, a place where dreams come true. At least that's what all the song writers and travel editors proclaim at every opportunity.

And after years of using Hawaii as a brief refueling stop to Japan, to Guam, to every other point in the Pacific, our dream came true on April 7. That's the day we boarded our jet for the God-made magic kingdom.

"Paradise" was less than a five-hour hop away. It was a meal, a couple of liquid refreshments and a screening of "Pete and Tillie."

The plane landed at 5:10 p.m. Hawaii time. Twentyfour hours later our dream vacation had turned into a nightmare of grief and despair.

In that short span of time we had been robbed, our lives threatened and we were shunted from one hotel room to another in an effort to safeguard us from bodily harm at the hands of a gang of youths.

This was all untrue, we thought. Any moment we would awaken and find that these things happened to other people, but only in cheap paerback crime novels.

It happened only on television's "Hawaii 5-O" with Jack Lord. It did not really happen to people.

But it did!

It happens too frequently nowadays in "Paradise" we learned from detective John Serrao — a dedicated police officer who spent a good number of hours (on and off duty) with my wife and me in those first few hectic days after we were robbed.

A friend, Kenneth Rowe, was out when we called his home on the island of Oahu shortly after arrival. He would be busily preparing things for a school get-together, a sort of carnival for the kids.

All the teachers in Hawaii were on strike and parents were expected to chip in and put the fund-raiser together, we were told.

Ken Rowe was a Hawaiian, born and raised on the island and could have told us where to go and where to watch out.

By the time he did, it was far too late! It was stolen credit cards, drivers licenses, photos, travelers' checks, personal checks, cash, rings, bathing suits, sandals and even suntan lotion too late by the time we got together with Ken and his wife, Karen.

However, we came to see Hawaii and I was darned if we would sit around a hotel room, albeit 30 stories up with a spectacular view of Waikiki and environs.

I rented a car and off we went early Monday morning.

Around Diamond Head (where, in the 1800's, some sailors mistook lava chunks for diamonds, thus the name). Down past Koko Head. A stop at the famed Blow Hole. A drive through Sea Life Park, which was not open that early in the morning, and on the right was Rabbit Island.

it was a balmy day, with the sun sparkling on the aquamarine waters washing the white sands on that side of the island. The wife insisted, actually demanded, that we stop the car on the shoulder of the road and take a few photos.

Across the street from the beach was a village of typical homes fronting similar beaches around Oahu.

As I posed a few feet away and down from the roadway, the wife stood within three feet of the compact car and snapped away.

She turned toward the car as a youth reached in through an open window on the driver's side, having sneaked across the highway in a crouch, grabbed our beachbag on the floor of the passenger's side and darted off.

This middleaged pursuer was no match for his youth and he disappeared into the cluster of homes.

Police arrived and took our report. They calmly drove us around and pointed out some of the "trouble spots" in the neighborhood. The culprit had evaded detection and our vacation was on the verge of collapse as we returned to our hotel room.

A phone call came through to our room.

The caller said he had "found our belongings, less the cash and several hundred dollars in travelers' checks, in the bushes.

He was willing to return them for a "reward" of, say, $500.

A price was finally agreed upon and I, after calling detective Serao, left to meet the finder. My wife ond I met with police at Sea Life Park where a plan for apprehension of the extortionist was mapped out.

Police were everywhere as we parked our car in the exact spot where we had been robbed.

This was the spot the caller had insisted upon.

Police were romping in the surf; another listened to his pocket radio in a beatup car a few blocks away; another was posted high atop a vantage point with a high-powered lense.

No one showed up.

No sooner had we stepped into the room at our swank Waikiki resort hotel than the phone rang. The caller was the same person who originally called.

He asked why we had called the police and said we were not dealing with "amateurs."

The price of our belongings shot upwards and our chances of survival downward unless we paid, he warned.

After several such phone calls, the wife was frantic.

Police advised the management to shift us to another room and further advised the switchboard that our room was "vacant." To all appearances the LaPierre family had returned to the Mainland — the "Big Island" as the Hawaiians jokingly call it.

But the ordeal wasn't over for us vacationers.

Cablegrams were sent to credit card agaencies throughout the Bay Area.

Stop payments were placed on all personal checks causing some recipients to howl. A quick visit to American Express and our checks were replaced.

Our case was not unusual, the manager informed us. A pile of forms on his desk attested to this sad fact.

Persons seeking "Paradise" were being ripped off at an alarming rate, records indicated.

Worse, bitter power plays between mobs were ending in bullet-riddled bodies being found in parking lots, newspapers noted.

Airline tickets are another matter.

A patron holding such tickets, regardless of how they are lost, is expected to sign an "indemnity waiver" which says in effect he will pay for the tickets if and when the person who stole them decides to use them.

In other words, I might have to pay for my robber's vacation trip to the Mainland.

A group of Waikiki businessmen has started a money pool to fly tourists back to the islands to testify against those suspects arrested.

And police are cracking down.

Wading through a series of mug shots of known criminals we were able to come up with three likely suspects.

Before leaving the islands for home detective Serrao said none of our belongings had, as yet, been found.

But he also informed us the three youths we had "fingered" had been arrested and booked on charges stemming from a similar case.

"It shows these people we aren't fooling around," Serrao said.

The question most asked — by friends and ourselves — is, will we ever return to Paradise?

And the answer after meeting the islanders of Oahu, Kauai and Maui is: You bet we will!

Environmentalists Continue Activity

The yeast of environmental activism contiunes to rise. While the pure numbers of participants has tended to dwindle, the might of the movement seems well organized for a long struggle on many fronts. Like all popular movements, environmentalism has its zealots and its overstatements. It also has the necessary specialists: lawyers, writers, speakers, researchers and fund raisers to fight effectively.

In brief, the movement is here to stay, and will profoundly affect the face of America in coming years. This is not to say that it should, or will win all its battles. It will, however, win many, and will force many compromises favorable to its goals.

In the abstract, of course, everyone approves of virgin forests, pure air, and clean, clear water. In many situations these results can be painlessly attained. Difficulty arises, however, when a suitable environmental purpose encounters essential economic and social objectives. It is in the area of such conflicts that the big fights of the future will occur. By studying three such areas of confrontation, some shape of the overall dispute can be discerned.

Strip mining: If there is a good case for strip mining as presently practiced in the United States it has yet to be articulated. We invest about 10 per cent of what the British and Germans spend per acre on reclamation, and the bulk of our strip mined land is, for practical purposes, unreclaimed. These open sores have ruined whole counties.

Only the sorriest economic need could possibly justify such depredation. In balancing economic necessity with the common sense of saving our land, the environmentalists should win the battle — totally. Such victory could take the form of closing down such operations or of requiring virtual 100 per cent restoration where this can be accomplished. No other answer seems reasonable.

Forests: One current dispute swirls about "clear-cut," and the conflicting claims of loggers and ecologists. Another issue, partially related to the first concerns leasing of timber rights on government lands.

About half of the remaining softwood supply stands in our national forests, and, of this, a great share is located in roadless areas that are not protected by the Wilderness Act of 1964.

In this fray, it seems as though environmentalists and industry live in different worlds. Industry sees clear-cutting as the best way to insure second crop growth, and its opponents counter with pictures of starkly bare slopes and of roads that lead into desolation.

Industry claims that our total forest lands are growing, and that regulated crops are far better than sporadic growth. Ecologists point to the loss of soil nutrients and warn that our forests are headed the way of the great forests of Dalmatia, the Cedars of Lebanon, and the English Midlands.

This battle will probably end up as a kind of standoff. Additional acreage will be clear cut, but with continuing political pressure, more of the de facto wilderness will be protected. As time passes, crop growing methods will become more sophisticated, and as industry is required to prove its claims about reforestation, the quality of its efforts will improve.

In the long run activism will not close down the American lumbering industry, or totally isolate it from government held lands. One likely result of environmental pressure will be the reservation of American timber for domestic use, and the drastic reduction or even elimination of exports to Japan and elsewhere.

Oil: Here the conflict is harsh and direct. Oil is messy but essential stuff. The environmental assault on oil is universal. Under particular attack are the new methods of industry. The expansion of off shore drilling, the development of super tankers and even super super tankers, and the proposal of new pipelines particularly excite opposition.

Government researchers have found that the open ocean is fouled with oil and tar, and oil spills in confined or coastal waters have become notorious events.

The ecologists see the extensive end use of petroleum products as an unnecessary evil. No ecologist is required, however, to inform us all of the foul air that envelops most of metropolitan America.

Prediction: The need for oil makes this a losing battle in the short run for environmentalists. Their efforts, however, will succeed in limiting spills, unsightly rigs, and careless methods. The Alaskan pipeline will be built. In the long run, however, the environmental movement will win out, as it succeeds in hurrying the day of cleaner fuels.

Samuel Chandler

'I Remember'

Thinking of the United States during a simpler, quieter day than ours, Eric Sloane, painter and writer, has produced a beautiful book, "I Remember America."

Filled with paintings of clouds and marshes and covered bridges, and Indian villages, the book is an ecologist's dream of paradise and joy for anyone to look through. Here are New England churches sending their towers into puffs of pink and blue-gray clouds. Here are country lanes and babbling brooks; old weather vanes on moldering barns and houses with each dovecoated roof crowned with a lightning rod.

Yet, "I Remember America" is more than a lovely book. It is the latest words of an angry old man who hears in his heart a small voice of despair for the survival of America. To make this voice heard, says he, is a "good and patriotic cause."

HE WRITES, "Moderation, peace, decency, freedom, discipline, devotion to country, reverence for God — almost everything on which our nation was originally founded, are suddenly on trial." He thinks we don't seem to realize what is happening. While our landscapes are being destroyed as business parallels our highways, we act confused rather than concerned.

"The real danger," Sloane writes, "is that we tolerate it. In blind faith that its truth will save it, we accept and even encourage attacks on our national heritage; we accept it as a temporary tantrum and a cycle that will soon pass. We frequently lean backward to the point of losing balance, while components of our national heritage disappear one by one."

Along with the disappearance of river ferries and haystacks, Mr. Sloane warns that we are losing the music of soft sounds and the comfort of quiet moments to the thunder of noise we make and the sputter and cough of our machines.

He says that it seems that American humor has spent itself and collapsed. With it went the humor magazines of yesterday and the "funny" comic strips. So gone is the sense of humor that used to carry America through hard times.

YET THERE IS something unrealistic in the things that Eric Sloane and many ecologists would preserve. America has passed the age of handploughs and covered bridges. The country lanes had to become highways; nothing could have prevented it. The old barns cannot be saved at the expense of adequate housing. Airports, freeways and skyscrapers must come and will.

It is the creation of beauty more than the preservation of things that should concern America. A highway need not be lined with ugly buildings and signs. Housing developments need not rip down the hills. Ashcan art need not replace painting that is in good taste, and detective comics need not kill off Jiggs and Dagwood.

Part of the sickness in America comes from the apathy of her people. All too few concern themselves with planning. They fight for San Bruno Mountain, but let ugly, used-up houses and yards sit like a blight upon our town.

Maybe Mr. Sloane is right when he says we need a national revolution of indignation. But let's make it realistic.

COASTER 2-30

The annual Coaster Derby, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department and the Serramonte Homeowners Association, will be held on King Drive between Callan and Verducci starting at noon May 6.

Youngsters second through eighth grades in four classes of cars, from "A" with official "Soap Box Derby Wheels" to "D", the open coaster type, will vie for trophies on Derby Day.

Trials will be between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. May 5.

The deadline for entries has been extended to 5 p.m., May 3. Entries must be turned in to the recreation office, 134 Hillside Blvd., 992-5356.

College Costs Rise

It is not surprising to learn from a survey conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board that it cost more than ever to attend college last year. But it may be significant that in most instances cost increases were lower last year than they were in 1971.

The outlay for a college education varies widely, from an average of $1,637 for commuter students at public two-year institutions to $3,279 for resident students at private four-year institutions.

Those who live on campus paid about $100 more last year. The cost increase was somewhat higher to students who commuted. Averages, of course, tell only part of the story. Within each category of school (public or private, two-year or four) costs of tuition, fees, transportation and room and board vary widely.

One of the few consistent factors is that inflation is having an effect on nearly all categories of college expense.

The Post gives its columnists a great deal of latitude, offering its readers the benefit of knowledgeable, varying opinion. Their opinions are not necessarily those of The Post, which addresses itself to its readers only through clearly marked editorials.

Canada Child Care Slated

A Canada College child care center, to enable parents to attend day classes, is proposed beginning next fall if there is sufficient interest.

Contact with the college by persons who would take advantage of the new service must be made by May 11. Prompt action is advised, since the number of children who could be accommodated is limited.

Application forms are available in the dean of women's office on the Redwood City campus. Further information may be obtained by phoning the college.

As tentatively planned, the center would operate from 7:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m., Monday through Friday. The proposed location is the First Christian Church on Topaz Street off Jefferson Road in Redwood City, approximately two miles from the campus.

Fees would be less than 25 cents an hour; children between the ages of 2½ years and 6 years would be eligible. While priority would be determined on the basis of need, children of other Canada students would also be considered if space remained.

Coast Arrest

A 21-year-old Redwood City man, Michael A. Williams, 1331 Jefferson Ave., was arrested by sheriff's deputies Sunday at Horseshoe Beach and charged with burglary and possession of marijuana.

Williams was observed prying open the window of an auto in the beach parking lot and removing a knapsack from the vehicle, according to deputies.

SEMI Meet Set in San Mateo

The Annual Semiconductor Equipment and Materials Institute (SEMI) meeting has been scheduled to take place Thursday, May 24, at 2 p.m. at the Villa Hotel in San Mateo (headquarters for SEMICON III).

Karl Lang, membership chairman of SMI announced there will be a strong drive for corporate membership at SEMICON III May 22-24.

SEMI, sponsor of the trade show, will have a booth staffed by the trade association's new executive secretary, Mary Cook and members of the board of directors.

Future activities planned by SEMI include a wafer standardization seminar on May 4 in Palo Alto, as well as a collection of pertinent industry statistics and involvement in foreign trade activities.

Coming into the show with an entirely unique concept is Bert Oppenheim, Inc., (BOI), a Palo Alto based manufacturer's representative of 17 lines.

BOI, according to Golden Gate Enterprises, show management, has reserved over 3000 square feet.

A doorway marquee marks the entrance from the main Hall to the Oppenheim wing where eight of the firm's lines are displayed: Corotek Corp., Data Precision Corp., Delta Design, Inc., Dix Engineering, Loranger Mfg. Corp., Pacific Western Systems, Inc., Precision Automatic Equipment, Inc., GTI-Clover, BOI.

The area will be specially designed and decorated by Stuart-Sauter with spot lighting, custom draperies, carpeting and lunge.

A "hacienda" look is an added attraction to the show. Twenty outdoor exhibits will be featured in the Garden Walkway tying together the Hall of Flowers and the Redwood Building.

A custom canopy area will be constructed displaying exhibits between the two halls. All of the areas are almost 100 per cent booked — bringing the total exhibits to over 350 inciuding the Garden Walkway.

For pre-registration attendee information contact Rich Banks or Linda Cartlidge of Golden Gate Enterprises, Marina Playa Office Park, 1333 Lawrence Expressway, Santa Clara, California 95051.
